Stimson Says French Proposal Doesn't Offer Full Relief Action

HOLD CONFAB IN PARIS

Edge and Mellon Meet French Officials for Conference on Issue

Washington — (AP) — A willingness to discuss the views of the French and American governments with the hope of reaching an agreement for a one year suspension of war debt payments was expressed today by both nations.

In making public the French reply to President Hoover's proposal, Secretary Stimson said the counterproposal it suggested did not accomplish the full measure of relief contemplated and must be discussed to reconcile the two viewpoints.

The secretary interpreted the reply as showing "gratifying cordiality" and a willingness to forego retention of any German payments for a year.

"The question of the method by which this postponement is to be accomplished and the ultimate payment of the postponed amounts are matters requiring negotiation and settlement between different governments," he said.

He pointed out that some governments already had acted on the president's plan and said "Ambassador Edge and Secretary Mellon were engaged in discussions with the French government with a view to early conclusions."

The French reply expressed readiness to place at the disposal of the bank of international settlements a sum equal to its share of the non-repayable annuity due from Germany with the exception of amounts necessary to execution of contracts of current contracts for utilization in improving German credit and other central European countries.

Ask For Precautions

All necessary precautions should be taken, the note added, to assure that such sums should be used only for economic purposes. The reply also said it was considered advisable to contemplate before the expiration of the one year's moratorium an examination of measures whereby Germany would resume her reparations payments.

The French note not only approved the principle of the Hoover plan, it expressed the hope that "other measures may be taken to favor official restoration of credit and confidence in the world."

The French reply, however, opposed application of the moratorium to the unconditional annuities which Germany must pay that nation, saying suspension of these "while permitting that the young should be used of to the public should continue to be serviced would go direct against a fundamental principle."

It further held solution of the German crisis depends not only on limitation of the Reich budget but on extension of credit to Germany. The latter already is under official discussion.

Calls It "Sacrifice"

The note described the proposal as "new sacrifice" for France and called that her public debt was "a time that of Germany." It included, however, with an expression of willingness to cooperate with the United States in "precautionary measures in a crisis which is considered grave."

Secretary Stimson expressed the view that the French proposal appeared to be "perfectly compatible with the dominant idea" of the present proposal.

The French note and the secretary's statement were made public simultaneously here by the state department.

Spend Night in German City After Landing to Replenish Fuel

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Both of America's latest transatlantic airplanes performed well today.

Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis completed their interrupted journey from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, by landing at Copenhagen at 2:10 p. m. (7:10 a. m. Appleton time). They were enthusiastically welcomed.

Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, on an air tour around the world sped over Omsk, Siberia, at such a terrific rate of speed that it was believed they might reach Irkutsk by nightfall. That would put them half way around the globe by the route they had mapped out.

Copenhagen, Denmark — (AP) — King Christian today conferred the knight-hood of Daneborg on Holger Hoiriis, who arrived here today with Otto Hillig after their air trip across the Atlantic.

Copenhagen, Denmark — (AP) — Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis, the first emigrants to America to come back to the old country by air, landed here today and received a rousing welcome.

It was 2:10 p. m. (7:10 a. m. Appleton time) when their plane alighted at Copenhagen's airport from Bremen, 240 miles away. They had made the hop in 2 hours and 33 minutes.

"This is the greatest day of my life," said Hoiriis as he got out of the plane and was poked up by well-wishers who paraded about with him on their shoulders.

He clasped his mother in his arms, kissed his sister, shook hands with several other members of the family, and then heard official welcoming words from Minister Fris Skott.

It was home for Hoiriis, for he was born in Denmark, leaving here as a boy to go to America. It seemed like home to Hillig, although technically it was not. He is a native of Steinbrücken, Germany, and as soon as the festivities in Denmark are over he and his companion will visit there.

The flying field was thronged, many persons had spent hours there yesterday awaiting news from the fliers while they were making the crossing of the Atlantic.

The principal road to the field was so crowded with automobiles long before the plane arrived that traffic virtually was at a standstill. There was a similar jam of humans within the airfield where the fliers stepped out of their machine.

Former Minister Thygesen Rothe, acting in behalf of the Aeronautical society, presented them with the society's gold plaque.

After that ceremony Hillig and Hoiriis got in a motor car which took them to a hotel where the crowds to city hall where Bürgermeister Jørgensen welcomed them in behalf of the city.

The fliers had been forced to land at Bremen last night before they were short of gasoline. Then they had refueled their ship at Krefeld, Germany, where they were touched off after leaving Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, yesterday, morning, they became confused because Europe uses the metric system. Intending to order 50 gallons of gasoline they actually ordered 50 liters.

Descending at Bremen to get sufficient gasoline to complete their flight to Copenhagen they decided they were so tired that it was useless to go further at that time.

8-HOUR-DAY HAS SENATE APPROVAL

Amendment Provides Measure Must Be Considered at 1932 Referendum

Madison — (AP) — By a 17 to 15 vote, the senate today concurred in the eight-hour working day bill.

The measure will not become effective, however, until the assembly concurs in several senate amendments and the governor signs the bill. One of the senate amendments provides that the measure will not become effective until approved by a referendum in 1932.

Under the 11 amendments adopted by the senate, many occupations have been removed from the provisions of the bill. As the measure was passed by the assembly, it would have exempted only farm labor, those engaged in domestic service, and waiters. Eight-hour working days would be required for all other employees except that "time and a half" be paid for all overtime work.

The senate amendments exclude county institutions, canneries, nurses, cheese factories and condenseries, seasonal industries, hospitals and sanatoria.

Assemblyman George Hampel, Milwaukee, is the author of the measure. It passed the assembly by a 2 to 1 vote.

Poison Rum Blamed For Two Deaths

Waupaca — (AP) — Poison which caused the deaths of Louis Hoffman, 32, and Henry Kopitzke, 46, while they attended a barn dance near New London, June 20, apparently came from a bottle of liquor the men shared, District Attorney Lloyd Smith announced today.

The source of the poison was established by the chemical analysis of moonshine performed by William T. Powell, assistant state toxicologist at Madison, who reported his findings to county authorities.

A trace of the poison to which Dr. E. L. Miloslavitch, Milwaukee pathologist, attributed the deaths was found, Powell reported, in about a half ounce of bootleg liquor seized by sheriff's deputies at the Douglas farm. About eleven thousandths of a gram of the poison was found in the residue of a half pint bottle, the toxicologist said.

The district attorney said the toxicologist's report substantiated fairly well the suspicion held by sheriff Arthur Steenbeck and himself that the men either entered a suicide pact or were victims of a plot to end their lives.

"Our next step will be to discover where the bottle of liquor came from," Smith said. "We can take no definite action in the case until we obtain that information."

Smith said he was inclined to discard the theory of a suicide pact because of the fact the two men were living happily with their families and were apparently friendly terms. Both men arrived here today with Otto Hillig after their air trip across the Atlantic.

Both men were found dead within a few minutes.

NOTED CLASSIC DANCER PLUNGES TO HIS DEATH

TRADER HORN, ADVENTURER, ENDS CAREER IN ENGLAND

Whitstable, Kent, England — (AP) — Alfred Aloysius Smith, known to the world as "Trader Horn," died today at a nursing home in Tankerton after a brief illness. He was a young man of 82 in his own words.

He was stricken with a chill at the home of his sister several days ago and did not rally. With a sparkling eye and a great white beard, he maintained until his death the happy, breezy manner that had accompanied a career of adventure.

"Trader Horn" came out of the jungles of the dark continent to take a place in the spotlight of the world's literary capitals. In collaboration with Mrs. Ethelreda and entertainer wrote "Trader Horn," Lewis, he wrote "Trader Horn" and entertained England and America with fascinating tales of his experiences with African natives.

His travels began in 1871 when he left Lancashire for the Ivory coast of West Africa on behalf of a Liverpool steamship company. After assisting the company's agent to promote the Ivory and rubber trade, he at length developed into the almost mythical personage of "Trader Horn" with a dozen headlines.

Among his activities were shooting elephants and lions, prospecting in the Kalahari desert of South Africa, diamond trading in Rand, washing gold at Cherry Creek, painting pictures in the southern part of the United States, and helping to salvage a bullion from the wrecked steamship Empress of India.

At one time he was a favorite of the Queen of Madagascar and was outlawed by the French government for fighting in her behalf. He served in an irregular unit in the Boer war and fought a caravan of

SENATE VOTES LOWER TAX ON CHAIN STORES

Shifts from Former Position and Agrees on Taxes of $3 to $25

Madison — (AP) — The senate shifted its position on chain store tax question today to pass a measure for reduced license fees. The vote was 24 to 9.

Early this week the senate passed a measure containing license fees ranging from $3 to $1,000 but the assembly refused to approve it.

The amendment which was adopted today contained fees ranging from $3 to $25.

Sen. Bernhard Gettelman, Milwaukee, author of the amendment, said it was a duplicate of the Indiana chain store tax law which was declared constitutional by the United States Supreme court. The independent merchant would pay $3. The fee on two to five stores would be $10; on five to ten stores $15, and from 10 to 20 stores, $20. A fee of $25 would be imposed on all stores in a chain over 20.

The bill as it now stands conforms to Gov. LaFollette's request for a measure that will stand the test of court litigation. He informed the legislature that a bill differing radically from the Indiana law would probably incur much litigation. The roll call on the Gettelman amendment, which must yet be approved by the assembly and the governor, was:

For — Anderson, Carroll, Cashman, Clifford, Daggett, Duncan, Foss, Gettelman, Hall, Hunt, Keppel, Loomis, Meligan, Miller, Nelson, Olson, Polakowski, Roberts, Rush, Stevenson, Shaver, Smith and Zantow — 24.

Against — Barker, Blanchard, Boldt, Edwards, Fellenz, Morris, Mueller, Roethe and White — 9.

Sen. E. J. Roethe, Fennimore, introduced an amendment which would have exempted those stores which handle dairy and agricultural products but it was rejected, 19 to 14.

The reply also said it was considered advisable to contemplate before the expiration of the one year's moratorium an examination of measures whereby Germany would resume her reparations payments.

The French note not only approved the principle of the Hoover plan, it expressed the hope that "other measures may be taken to favor official restoration of credit and confidence in the world."

The French reply, however, opposed application of the moratorium to the unconditional annuities which Germany must pay that nation, saying suspension of these "while permitting that the young should be used of to the public should continue to be serviced would go direct against a fundamental principle."

It further held solution of the German crisis depends not only on limitation of the Reich budget but on extension of credit to Germany. The latter already is under official discussion.

Calls It "Sacrifice"

The note described the proposal as "new sacrifice" for France and called that her public debt was "a time that of Germany." It included, however, with an expression of willingness to cooperate with the United States in "precautionary measures in a crisis which is considered grave."

Secretary Stimson expressed the view that the French proposal appeared to be "perfectly compatible with the dominant idea" of the present proposal.

The French note and the secretary's statement were made public simultaneously here by the state department.

Washington — (AP) — A willingness to discuss the views of the French and American governments with the hope of reaching an agreement for a one year suspension of war debt payments was expressed today by both nations.

In making public the French reply to President Hoover's proposal, Secretary Stimson said the counterproposal it suggested did not accomplish the full measure of relief contemplated and must be discussed to reconcile the two viewpoints.

The secretary interpreted the reply as showing "gratifying cordiality" and a willingness to forego retention of any German payments for a year.

"The question of the method by which this postponement is to be accomplished and the ultimate payment of the postponed amounts are matters requiring negotiation and settlement between different governments," he said.

He pointed out that some governments already had acted on the president's plan and said "Ambassador Edge and Secretary Mellon were engaged in discussions with the French government with a view to early conclusions."

The French reply expressed readiness to place at the disposal of the bank of international settlements a sum equal to its share of the non-repayable annuity due from Germany with the exception of amounts necessary to execution of contracts of current contracts for utilization in improving German credit and other central European countries.

Ask For Precautions

All necessary precautions should be taken, the note added, to assure that such sums should be used only for economic purposes. The reply also said it was considered advisable to contemplate before the expiration of the one year's moratorium an examination of measures whereby Germany would resume her reparations payments.

LIBERALS AROUSED BY LABORITE TAUNTS

London — (AP) — Another of those "strained situations" between the Liberal party and the government, which frequently threaten to overturn the cabinet but haven't yet succeeded, has suddenly developed. The strain this time is said to be more severe than ever and there is much talk about anger among the Liberals.

The trouble arose from a speech by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer. Mr. Snowden taunted the Liberals with having abandoned their views on land taxation and members of the government now are attempting to persuade the offended Liberals that the taunt should not be taken too seriously.

Madison—(AP)—Pointing to his speech to the legislature in which he declared he would not sign any measure which appropriated money that may have to be raised by tax on property, Gov. LaFollette yesterday vetoed a bill for improving the Grand Army Home for Veterans at Waupaca.

The bill would have appropriated $5,000 for a new heating plant and $15,000 for a water supply system. The governor said the improvements were necessary but that he could not sanction the appropriations in view of his message.

The governor also vetoed a bill which would have permitted the Milwaukee county board of supervisors to create from 20 to 25 districts to which a supervisor would be elected at the April, 1932 election for one-year terms.

Gov. LaFollette signed 10 bills yesterday. By Assemblyman Michael LaFollette, prohibiting the board of school directors in Milwaukee from letting a superintendent of schools accept by a roll call vote.

HOSPITAL INSTALLS NEW ALARM SYSTEM

Modern Fire Warning Device to Cost Approximately $300

Installation of a new fire alarm system at St. Elizabeth hospital has been started by Louis Luebke, electrician, and his assistant, Edward Nelson.

A master box, one of the most modern devices for fire alarm systems is one of the features of the new outfit. One of the few three-fold boxes in the city, the alarm will operate not only when the fire alarm circuits are in working order, but also when they are broken or short circuited. The box is so of the quick succession, non-interfering type, meaning that it will not interfere with other alarms sent over the same circuit at the same time. If another alarm in the fire ward is sounded at the same time the master box is set off, a master box holds its signal until the other is finished.

The master box will be located at the office on first floor, and auxiliary boxes will be stationed on the third floor of the new building and on the first, second and third floors of the old building. The master box can be tripped from any auxiliary box in the hospital.

The entire system will cost about $300, with the city and hospital sharing equal shares of the cost. The old fire alarm box, which is obsolete, will be discarded.

NEW POTATO FIELD ON SHIOCTON FARM

BY W. F. WINSEY

Shiocton—Thursday afternoon C. Chapman, of the College of Agriculture and W. D. Brownson, Smith's instructor of the Shiocton school, inspected an eight acre field of potatoes on the farm of Mrs. McLaughlin, north of this village.

For three reasons the inspectors were well pleased with what they saw. First, the field is one of the best in this vicinity. Second, Mr. McLaughlin planted certified seed.

Third, he applied 250 pounds of lance commercial fertilizer per acre under the seed at planting time. The potatoes are among the best in this vicinity.

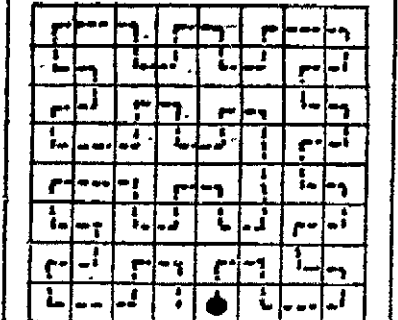

Both Mr. Chapman and Mr. Brownson approved of Mr. McLaughlin's plan of raising a crop of potatoes, and especially of mixing the fertilizer with the soil immediately after the level of seed furrows have been planted.

With questions, Mr. McLaughlin was from the inspectors' recommendation for the control of bug leaf hoppers.

BOARD IRONS OUT PAVING PROBLEMS

Decides to Drop Walks as Much as Possible at One Corner

The board of public works took a few of the kinks out of the South River street paving project Thursday afternoon. Under the penetrating mid-afternoon sun they plodded wearily up and down the plowed street, measuring embankments, poking retaining walls, and studying slopes and embankments.

First will be hauled from River street to raise the grade in front of Jerry Callahan home so the driveway will connect with the street.

Then the street was widened it increased the drop from the sidewalk to the street so much that without raising the grade of the street the driveway cannot be sloped enough to be used.

The corner of Lavest and South River street offered another snag. The elimination of the high bump in the middle of the intersection dropped the grade so low that the distance between the pavement and the sidewalk cannot be surmounted without building steps up to the sidewalk.

The board decided to drop the sidewalks as much as possible, and cut down the boulevard in proportion. S. Lavest will be sloped from the top of the hill to the Lavest bridge.

Members of the Board inspected the retaining wall built over the ravine on the east end of South River street. The wall fell shortly after it was built. At present it is being propped up with boards, but as soon as the pavement is laid it will be held by the concrete.

Part of the concrete on the street has already been poured. The extra grading near the Callahan home will be completed before the concrete machine gets to the place.

VICE PRESIDENT IN TIF WITH PUBLISHER

Curtis Quizzed About Alleged Link With Washington Hotel Owner

Topoka, Kas—(AP)—A controversy between Vice President Curtis and E. Haldeman-Julius, publisher, over the rates Curtis pays for his Washington hotel suite grew heated today.

The vice president denied any connection with a "Moore $100,000,000 bond" deal about which, the publisher asserted in a telegram yesterday: "It is charged that your influence kept the hands of the department of justice tied for several years and that you shared in the spoils to the extent of $750 a day since the day of your election."

Curtis, who said he had been accused of taking advantage of his position to avail himself of low rates, asserted he did not know "Mr. Moore" and that what he paid for the suite was "no one's business but my own and the hotel's."

In a second telegram addressed to the vice president, Haldeman-Julius identified "Moore" as the owner of the hotel at which Curtis lives in the capital.

"If not by the favor of Mr. Moore, owner of the Mayflower, then by whose favor," the telegram stated, "are you given an elegant suite in the Mayflower at the curiously low rate of $5.50 a day when it is known that Harry Sinclair paid $150 a day for that identical suite during his trial in Washington?"

Haldeman-Julius requested a "definite and satisfactory explanation" of the alleged connection "which has benefited you thus far to the extent of $105,485."

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stingle, route 2, Black Creek, entertained several guests Sunday. They were Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Fox, Jr., and son Marvin, Kaukauna, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Baumann, John, Silverius, Cyril, Florian, Alice, Adelle and Mary Frances Baumann of Mackville.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF MADISON WOMAN

Madison—(AP)—A post-mortem examination was to be made today to determine the cause of the death of Miss Lulu Goldbeck, 31, who collapsed, as she started to climb onto a pier after swimming in Lake Mendota last night.

While an attending physician pronounced death due to an heart attack, the woman's brother, Gilbert, expressed belief that she was electrocuted.

He said she grasped the pier, along which a pipe carrying electric wires ran, as if to draw herself from the water. He said as she started to raise herself, she threw her head back, and when he touched her he felt an electrical charge. She did not fall back into the water, and was raised onto the pier, where police and volunteers attempted to revive her.

Groves Income Tax Bill Advanced To Third Senate Reading

INCREASES TAX ON INCOMES OF $3,000 OR MORE

Author Claims Measure Will Raise About $800,000 Added Revenue

Madison —(P)—The Groves income tax bill increasing the rates on incomes over $3,000 was advanced to a third reading in the senate today by a vote of 18 to 15.

The action followed a refusal to reject the bill by a 17 to 16 vote. According to its author, Assemblyman Harold Groves, Madison, the measure will raise about $800,000. Sen. Thomas Dunham, Milwaukee, told the senate that $400,000 was more correct.

As the bill now stands it does not contain the surtax on incomes over $5,000. The surtax provision was removed by the senate. It would have raised about $3,000,000.

By the terms of the bill the rate on incomes of $3,000 to $4,000 is raised from 13 per cent to 2 per cent. The rate on each additional $1,000 is raised one half of 1 per cent up to $12,000 when the tax remains at 7 per cent.

The bill repeals the three-year average provision enacted under the Zimmerman administration, and puts the tax on a yearly basis. It also increases the exemption for each child under 18, from $3 to $4. In an attempt to abolish "tax colonies" the bill provides for the following distribution of revenue:

Forty per cent to the state, 10 per cent to the counties, and the balance to town, village and ward, except when the balance exceeds five-tenths of 1 per cent of the equalized value of all taxable property such excess is retained by the county and distributed according to school population. Under the present law the limit is 2 per cent of the equalized value.

Sen. O. S. Loomis, Mauston, tackled an amendment to the bill which would provide that the revenue be used for state aid to high schools, but it was rejected, 20 to 12.

The senate concurred, 21 to 10, in the Mulder bill raising the fees for deer tags from 50 cents to $1. The measure would raise about $12,000 which would be used for a deer damage fund.

NEW RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT FORMED

Hold First Meeting Last Night at Grand Chute Town Hall

Organization of a new rural school district, No. 1, town of Grand Chute, was effected at a meeting of the district voters at the Grand Chute town hall last night. Officers elected for the new district, which raises the county total to 135, are: John Miller, clerk; Charles J. Anderson, treasurer; and Ray Feuerstein, director. Miller's term will expire at the annual district meeting, which must be held by law on July 25. Feuerstein will serve for two years and Feuerstein for three. The annual district meeting will be held at Anderson's upholstery shop on N. Richmond-st.

There were between 40 and 50 voters at the meeting last night. While there was some discussion on the question of building a new school house, the matter was not definitely decided. It will be taken up at the annual meeting. The new district comprises territory which is detached from the Woodlawn and Tri-angle rural school districts.

500 CHILDREN ATTEND MILK COMPANY OUTING

More than 500 children and employees of the Appleton Pure Milk company attended the company's annual outing at Erb park Thursday.

Events in which the children participated included a relay race, a running race, wheelbarrow races, tree-legged races, peanut races, sack races, cracker eating contests and ball games.

Prizes were won by Orion Miller, Glenn Bowers, Robert Helzer, Rob Bostner, Les Springer, Joan Miller, Astha, Goethel, Gertrude, Noel, Dolores Bastian, Madeline Nohr, Scheilla Nohr, John Killoren and Joe Petarske.

Four shetland ponies were provided for free rides for each child.

CLUB MAKES PLANS FOR HOME PRODUCTS SHOW

Plans for the Home Products show to be put on by Appleton manufacturers and jobbers in July were made at the meeting of the Appleton Advertising club at the Conway hotel Thursday noon. During the show retailers on College-st will give over their windows to the display of the products of these Appleton concerns. Wayne Jones is chairman of the committee in charge, and Arthur H. Benson and Ralph Gee are assisting him.

The success of the Trade Expansion event was discussed.

BURTS CANDIES LOSE TO KIMBERLY, 9 TO 8

Neenah—The Burt's Candy softball team was defeated Thursday evening by the Kimberly team, 9 to 8, in a closely fought game played at Columbia park diamond. A return game will be played in the near future at Kimberly.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Hasselblad will return Saturday from Omaha, Neb., where they have been spending their vacation. Mr. Hasselblad will return to the pulpit of the Baptist church Sunday morning.

Post and Gatty in Berlin

(NEA Berlin Bureau, Transmitted by Radio and Telephoto)

In exactly one minute more than 24 hours after they had left Newfoundland, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty were receiving cheers and flowers from a throng at Tempelhof Airfield, Berlin. Here you see them—Post, left, and Gatty, right—after alighting from their monoplane, the "Winnie Mae." They previously had landed at Hanover, Germany, to pick up their course, so a tremendous ovation was awaiting them at Berlin. The following morning the pair again took up their 15,000-mile flight, and sped to Moscow. This Post-Crescent, NEA Service picture was sent to London by telephoto, thence transmitted by radio to America.

raiders in the Lake Chad region. He had narrow escapes from death. Once he was carried in the teeth of a wounded lion and again he was nearly slain by blacks in a quarrel over ivory.

He came to England at the outbreak of the World war and tried unsuccessfully to enter the British army, declaring he was 20 years younger than his age. He was reported to have served aboard a mine sweeper in spite of his rejection.

"Trader Horn" was facile in establishing himself with the black races and though sometimes in danger he was usually on the best of terms with natives. He did not hesitate to describe cannibals as his blood brothers.

In later years, after he had returned to England to spend his remaining days with his sister, he became quite critical of the youth of the modern wealthy classes. He once gave vent to his disgust in these words:

"I can't see those young men carrying a gun in the next war or those young women bearing babies. Many young men of today are poor—in fact with legs made only to walk the length of a golf course and fists made only strong enough to drive a car. They are just pipples on the globe. Members will be permitted to see if we revived the stone age for a year or two."

OSHKOSH MAN ARRESTED ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Oshkosh—(P)—Henry J. Williams, 37, former vice president and general manager of the Valley Plumbing and Heating Supply Co., was back in Oshkosh today to face charges of embezzling $8,555.64 from the company.

He was arrested in Milwaukee yesterday where he was living with his wife and small daughter. Williams was arrested after sheriff Arthur Nelson wrote Milwaukee authorities he had been informed the business man was there.

Benjamin Flowright, president of the company, charges Williams began embezzlements from the company in 1928 by taking money sent in for account payments.

PLAN TO ERECT SHRINE TO SAVE BELLEAU WOOD

Veterans Surprised to Hear Historical Spot Was to Be Abandoned

Paris—The battle-ground of Belleau Wood, where American soldiers wrote history 13 years ago by driving out the entrenched Germans and starting the advance which later brought victory to the Allies, will be saved for posterity, despite attempts to commercialize it.

Determined shortly after a period of years to buy the historic wood and exploit it, have been repulsed. Now, though there have been reports it will be abandoned June 30, General James G. Harbord, through foreign representatives, declares it will be maintained.

During the years since this wooded area was dedicated as the Belleau Wood Memorial in 1923, to perpetuate the spirit of America's fighting men, it has often been sought by interests which hope to reap a harvest of money by making it a tourist mecca.

Bought To Preserve

Even a year or two after the war was over such a movement was started. That was the real reason why the Memorial association stepped in and bought the property. This organization declared it would be sacrilege to exploit the tangled maze of ground where so many doughboys made the supreme sacrifice.

The official records describe the wood thus:

"Belleau Wood is the property of an American association maintained as a national monument in memory of the sacrifice made by the United States Army, Navy and Marine Corps during June and July, 1918. The expenses for the restoration and upkeep are defrayed entirely by the generosity of the American public."

Mrs. James Carroll Frazer of Washington, D.C., and General Harbord were two leading citizens who launched the memorial plan. They had seen other historic spots on the wall when other historic spots on the front were purchased by commercial interests. It was not necessary to ask the government or any organization of veterans to back the plan then conceived.

The 155 acres of land comprising the wood was purchased in 1923. By that time it was a tangle of brush, vines and trees and the trenches and many of the artillery pieces left on the field were submerged under coverings of weeds, moss and grasses.

It was planned to bring it back to the physical condition it was in those days when the American doughboys charged the Germans. Machine gun nests, nearly 2,000 trenches and artillery emplacements, were uncovered during the succeeding years.

And tourists flocked in. Meanwhile the commercial interests, realizing acquiring the battle-ground would be a profitable venture, tried time after time to obtain it. They have not succeeded.

The Belleau Wood Memorial is not a part of the scheme of the Battle Monuments Association, of which General Pershing is the head. Whether it will be has not yet been determined. A chapel has been built near the wood, but it is maintained separately.

The weather bureau expected the maximum for the day in Chicago to be as much as 95 or 99, which set an all-time record for the month of June.

The general forecast for the Chicago area, including most of the midwest, follows: "Generally fair and continued warm weather will prevail tonight and Saturday in the north-central states, except that local showers with moderate temperatures are likely in some portions of the upper Great Lakes region, which on Saturday the weather will become unsettled in North Dakota, with local showers and cooler Saturday or Sunday. On Sunday mostly fair and warm weather will prevail in the eastern half of the north central states, while somewhat unsettled weather with some local showers is likely in the northern half."

An additional death and five prostations were reported today at Peoria and an unidentified man fell dead in Chicago.

Government weather bureau records showed Yuma, Ariz., to be the hottest spot in the country yesterday with a maximum of 108. Other high spots were Fresno, Calif., with 104, Dubuque, Iowa and Red Bluff, Calif., with 102. "Spring" Lasts For Many Years On This New Planet

Flagstaff, Ariz.—(P)—Spring is just approaching on "Planet X," the new world discovered a year ago and now named Pluto.

Along with his spring comes the clearing from astronomical skies of the storm of doubts that broke when the discovery was announced last March by Lowell Observatory, at Flagstaff.

Now more amazing than ever among scientific feats of all time stand the predictions of the late Dr. Percival Lowell, who forecast the celestial path where the Lowell astronomical had searched many years for the missing planet.

Recent additional discoveries present the first fragmentary picture of conditions on Pluto. His image, 2000 times fainter than the dimmest star visible to the naked eye, has been found on photographs taken years ago at Flagstaff and other of the world's foremost observatories.

The early pictures have aided greatly in showing that Pluto circles the sun in an orbit shaped about like that of other planets. This circuit, his "year" takes about 250 earth years.

Just now he is three-quarters of the way around to his point of closest approach to the sun. This means it is spring, a period roughly equivalent to March. It is a spring 250 times longer than ours. Seasons on Pluto are very different from the earthly cycle. His winter is long; summer brief.

This is because he speeds up as he approaches the sun. In winter he travels about two miles a second, but in summer does three miles.

For Pluto the sun is only about one-twentieth-hundredth as bright as for humans. In midwinter it is a tiny disc, but very brilliant, while in "June" it engulfs half a meter and is more than twice as bright and warm as in winter.

The change in the sun's size and also the speeding up in summer are explained by the shape of the planet's orbit. It is more elliptical than those of other major planets, with the sun considerably closer to one end.

The orbits of all other planets could be represented by concentric rings drawn upon a smooth table top. But if Pluto's path were drawn about them, the table would have to be tilted 17 degrees upward on one side and 17 downward on the other, to show the plane where he travels. At one point he would be nearly directly beneath Neptune's trail, but hundreds of millions of miles away.

Airship To Be Used In Tests Of Destruction

Washington—(P)—The airship Los Angeles, eventually slated to take second rank as the pride of the navy when the super-dirigible Akron is completed, will "die" as a martyr to lighter-than-air science.

Its useful life well past the span predicted in 1924 by its German makers, is estimated to continue another two and four years longer. Then its declining days will be spent in destructive tests.

The navy plans to use the craft, as it has been able to use no dirigible before, in a series of experiments from which may be learned new facts on devices for mechanical handling, landing and mooring masts.

"Polar Year" To Attract Small Army Of Scientists

Washington—(P)—A small army of scientists will invade the polar regions August 1, 1932, at the start of the "polar year," for mass observations of weather, air movements and electrical forces.

From stations near the north and south magnetic poles and ice fields of the Arctic and Antarctic they expect to gather information that will improve radio broadcasting, weather forecasting, and the safety of aviators and sailors.

"Little America," Admiral Richard E. Byrd's camp on the Antarctic ice barrier, may be recaptured by an expedition from Australia and New Zealand.

It is hoped to send 50 expeditions with 150 scientists representing 24 or more nations to far-flung observations near the top and bottom of the world. The American station probably will be at Fairbanks, Alaska.

Plans for the polar year are under direction of the International Commission for the Polar Year. Members from the United States are Dr. John A. Fleming of the Carnegie Institution and Capt. N. H. Heck of the coast and geodetic survey.

The polar regions are important from many scientific angles. Many storms originate in them. Air currents passing over them affect weather in other parts of the world.

Electric forces centering at the north and south magnetic poles influence radio and telegraph transmission, and compasses used by sea captains and aviators. They also are associated with electrical storms.

Radio and aviation have been developed since last polar year, in 1932-33, so more attention will be paid to conditions in the upper air.

Small free balloons sent up to test the magnetic poles and presure and air currents, temperature and presure at high altitudes will carry small automatic radio sets. They will transmit records of the instruments back to observers on the ground, so it will not matter if the balloons are lost.

A region 100 miles above the earth which is an especially good conductor of electricity will receive special attention because it reflects radio waves from the earth back to the earth again. Is distance from the earth varies, and the reflection of waves varies correspondingly. Better understanding of its movements is expected to improve broadcasting conditions.

The gradual but constant shifting of the magnetic poles will be plotted. This affects the variations of the compass from true north. Daily weather records will be kept to learn more about the storms from the Arctic that harass transatlantic fliers and ships alike.

BADGER BRIEFS

Milwaukee—(P)—Sought for several months, Harold Lenburg, accused in connection with a still stand last year at Kewaskum today was held for arraignment after his apprehension when prohibition agents raided a downtown speakeasy. The prosecutor's department filed application for a year's padlock on the Caledonia farm of Adolph Milwaukeewitz. War agents recently found two stills.

Milwaukee—(P)—Mrs. Severin Swenson, Milwaukee, yesterday was elected president of the Women's synod, a society, Warburg, synod, of the Lutheran Church of America, at the district convention in Cudahy. Other officers included Miss Helen Mariens, secretary, Belmont, and Miss Clara Harms, statistical secretary, Racine.

Milwaukee—(P)—Peter Kuczyński, former alderman and South Milwaukee real estate dealer today awaited trial after pleading guilty in municipal court to embezzling $4,000 from John Paviak, a client.

Boyd—(P)—Funeral services were scheduled here today for E. L. Moore; student pilot, fatally injured in an airplane crash at Wisconsin Rapids with his instructor, Tom Nash, near the Tri-City airport. Nash, killed instantly when the plane went into a spin, will be buried at Wisconsin Rapids tomorrow.

Discovery Of $500 Slot Machine Check Uncovers Capone Millions In Bank

BY ROBERT TALLEY

Chicago—The business depression which reduced the demand for Al Capone's liquor, gambling and vice, has been responsible for the gangster's insolvency today, but he was his approaching penitentiary sentence to a small group of persistent men who worked nearly four years to get him behind the bars. The "intelligence unit" of the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau is probably the least known of Uncle Sam's investigating agencies. It hunts income tax dodgers quietly, sticks with them year after year, works behind the scenes, gets no glory, and no name. In fact, this is probably the first time you have ever seen its name in a newspaper.

Therefore, it is in order to tell something about this little known, but highly efficient secret service organization. It works under the direction of David Burnett, U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington. Its chief is Elmer L. Gray, a former investigator with many famous cases to its credit, including the Chicago division, which comprises seven states, is A. P. Madison, division chief. An ace among special agents is Frank J. Wilson of Washington.

Its men are not detectives and do not claim to be. Mostly, they are expert accountants and lawyers who know little about guns and other about disguises, but they do know an awful lot about bank accounts and financial transactions. One of them a few days and he in possibly tell you more about our financial affairs than you know yourself.

They worked three and one-half years to get the goods on Al Capone, and in doing so they assisted in the financial ruin of his gang. By sending two of his chief lieutenants to the penitentiary and getting several more started well on the road there. Frank Nitti, Capone's treasurer and alcohol king, and Sam Guzik, his slot machine and ice czar, are in Leavenworth prison now for trying to beat the income tax law. Ralph Capone, Al's brother and chief of the beer division, is under sentence, but has appealed. There are others, too, but they don't figure in this story.

The trail that finally led to Al Capone himself began late in 1927. One of the Income Tax Bureau's agents found that Ralph Capone had filed returns for 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925. He suggested to Ralph that he had better file.

Ralph filed, but paid no tax, insisting that he was financially unable. Pressed, he offered $1000 as compromise. He represented that he was insolvent, or virtually so, and that his only holdings amounted to half interest in race horses of substantial value.

Check Gives First Clue

In January, 1928, the intelligence agents began to investigate his ability to pay his taxes, penalties and interest charges for the four years. Somewhere along the line the investigators chanced upon a $500 check drawn by a South Side man whom they knew to be interested in a slot machine racket. Who got it? Bank accounts were quietly analyzed and it was found that this check had been deposited in a bank in Cicero (Chicago suburb) and Capone's stronghold) to the credit of one James Carson.

Tracing the "James Carson" account the agents made an amazing discovery. They found that several years before Ralph Capone had opened an account in this bank under a own name and had then opened a closed six successive accounts under various aliases, during which time $2,000,000 passed through these several accounts.

This discovery wasn't easy. The bank officials said they didn't know any connection between the various accounts and therefore could give little aid. Moreover, the bank officials were not acquainted with James Carson or any of the others, as they said, these customers would never come to the bank. They were sent the signature cards out of them, it was explained and deposits and withdrawals were made representative. The canceled checks had been returned to the customer long ago. There seemed to be no trail to follow.

Accounts Link Them

But this didn't stump the investigators. By tediously checking the amounts of withdrawals and comparing these amounts with simultaneous deposits to other accounts and finding people who got various checks, the investigators finally tied Ralph to every one of these accounts. Where the amounts were in round numbers it was hard, but where odd amounts were involved comparison was easier. The government then produced witnesses who testified that Ralph signed checks by these various aliases in their presence. Moreover, handwriting experts identified the various signature cards as having been signed by the same man.

Turning next to the deposits made to these accounts, the agents traced these checks back to saloon keepers who had bought beer from Ralph. They even produced saloon keepers who testified to this on the witness stand. Some of them were payroll checks that saloon keepers had cashed for their customers.

Remittance sheets of the bank showed checks sent to other banks for collection. Though details may vary, every bank keeps such a record of every check. This led to a new trail. For six weeks six men were hired to trace the checks literally thousands upon thousands of old checks. Bales of dusty remittance sheets and other bank records, long stored in warehouses, were taken out and scanned.

Leads to Guzik

In the end, they got what they wanted. The trail of the Ralph Capone checks led to Jack Guzik's accounts in other Chicago banks—accounts that represented yearly transactions running into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Gangdom was being linked together.

By some means best known to themselves, the agents found Fred Reese, Guzik's financial helper, in St. Louis and brought him back here. Reese testified he, at various times, had purchased $250,000 worth of cashier's checks with gang profits from gambling houses. Practically all of these were traced to Guzik, just as Reese said they could be. Guzik, trying to be shrewd, had turned in his money and bought cashier's checks, but he was too dumb to know that cashier's checks leave the clearest trail of all.

The Capone gang's Hawthorne dock truck was paying huge profits—in one year it actually paid a 300 per cent cash dividend. These dividend checks were traced and some found deposited to the account of Dr. David B. Owens in a certain bank. Strangely enough, an identical sum of money had been withdrawn from Dr. Owens' account the next day. Strangely, too, an exactly similar amount had been deposited to Guzik's credit in another Chicago bank the following day. On the stand, Dr. Owens admitted that the stock held in his name really belonged to Guzik.

The trail led next to the accounts of Sam Guzik, Jack's brother. Sam was hiding behind aliases, too, and dabbling with various brokerage houses, but again the careful checking of accounts nailed its man. Sam pleaded guilty.

Finally Nailed

On and on the trail led to Frank Nitti and his transactions, at it was eventually ascertained, of $700,000 to $800,000 in two years. But Nitti had a different system; he didn't deposit the checks he collected, but would merely leave them at the bank to be cleared, call back again after they had been cleared and get the cash. It looked like Nitti hadn't left much of a trail.

But investigators who had been trained as expert accountants knew better. They knew that every bank keeps a record of "out clearings," showing where checks sent to it for collection went when they went home. Tedious tracing followed these checks back to the alcohol buyers and others whence they came. Nitti soon found it advisable to enter a plea of guilty and take 18 months in Leavenworth, where he now is.

On and on the trail led, through a maze of bank records of one sort or another. Weeks and months had gone by since the government agents had stumbled on that first $500 slot machine check that led its devious path to Ralph Capone, otherwise, "James Carson," but always the object was the same. Higher still was the man who was yet to be got—the "Big Fellow" himself.

The other day the Internal Revenue Bureau's men found themselves ready. At last they had the long-sought missing link. They struck. The long-awaited income tax indictments against Al Capone himself were returned. A few days later Capone came into court and pleaded guilty.

You may guess what that missing link was. Until Capone is actually behind the bars at Leavenworth penitentiary, these shrewd investigators will not reveal it.

Specifically, Al was charged with "failure to file, failure to pay," attempt to defeat and evade income taxes for the years 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929 on an income totaling $1,038,659.89. The government says it can prove that he evaded a tax of $213,050.48, which now—with the 50 per cent penalty for fraud and interest charges—amounts to $400,000. They say they can prove this much income in court; there may be much more.

Others of the income tax bureau's secret service who aided in getting the goods on Al Capone were: Special Agents N. E. Tessem and Clarence Converse of Chicago; Archie Martin of Kansas City; U. S. Revenue Agents Westrich and Claessett of Brooklyn and William Hodgins, Chicago revenue expert.

PEACH TREE BEARING FRUIT AT KAMPO HOME

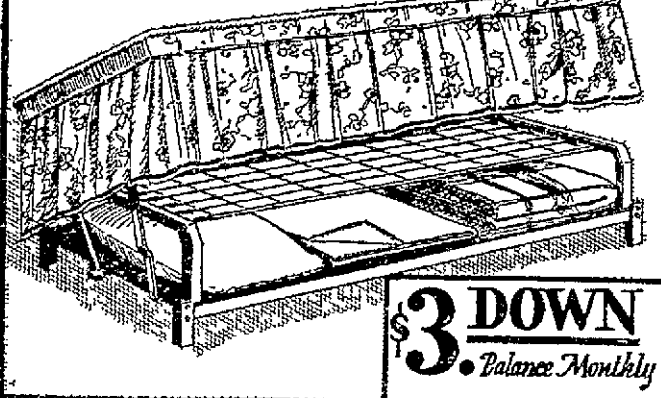

Four years ago John Kampe carelessly scattered some peach stones in his garden at 833 W. Fourth-st. this summer a seven foot peach tree is bearing fruit. There are about 50 small green peaches on the tree. The tree has been growing steadily for four years, but not until this spring did it blossom and bear fruit. If the weather continues to be warm Mr. Kampe expects to harvest a bumper crop of the Michigan fruit.

MY NEIGHBOR Says —

When cooking such vegetables as carrots, spinach, turnips and cauliflower, cook twice the amount needed for one meal. Half may be served plain the first day and the other half creamed the second day.

Tumblers that have been used with milk should always be washed in cold water before they are washed in hot. When this is done the milk does not stick to the glass and they will not have a cloudy appearance.

When making a white sauce sprinkle the amount of flour needed on top of the heated milk and beat with a rotary egg-beater. It will come out smooth and creamy. (Copyright, 1931, by The Associated Newspapers)

Pythians Invited To Dedication

THE Supreme lodge, Knights of Pythians, has sent out invitations to all Pythians, Pythian Sisters, Uniform Rank, Dukes, Princes of Syracuse and their families and friends to join a pilgrimage to Eagle Harbor, Mich., Saturday July 11, for the dedications and consecration of the Rathbone school house, the birthplace of the Order Knights of Pythians.

The memorial which has been erected and which will be dedicated at this time consists of a shaft of granite nine feet high, three feet wide and fourteen inches thick, set on a base of granite, four by six feet. Two Pythian triangles, one on each side of the shaft, are set near the tip, and about five feet from the base is a bronze tablet of Justus H. Rathbone, founder of the order. On the opposite side a similar tablet will commemorate the dedication. Between the two tablets is a vault containing a copper box in which will be placed the honor rolls listing names and subscriptions toward the memorial in honor of the founder of the order.

The service will begin at 1 o'clock, central standard time, at the school house. Dr. Birge C. Swift, chairman, Middleville, Mich., will preside. The program will include presentation of American Canadian, and Pythian flags by the supreme representatives from Michigan, address of welcome by Michigan, and address by the chancellor of Michigan; response by James Dunn, Jr., supreme vice chancellor; presentation of deed and key of the Rathbone school by Will E. Hampton, grand keeper of records and Seal of Michigan; unveiling of the Rathbone Memorial by Louise Hubbard, grand chief of Pythian Sisters of Michigan; and address by Leslie E. Crouch, supreme chancellor. The Dokey choir from Korahe temple, Ishpeming, Mich., will sing during the service.

A banquet will be served in the evening, and a public meeting will follow. A bus scenic trip through Keweenaw Point will take place in the morning.

There will be a special train leaving Chicago at 5 o'clock the afternoon of July 10, traveling through Wisconsin at night and reaching upper Michigan at daybreak. It will leave Houghton, Mich., at midnight July 11 and will reach the Wisconsin border at daybreak.

One hundred twenty-five persons attended the annual picnic of Valley Shrine, No. 10, Thursday afternoon and evening at Neenah park for members and their families. TRY SALT BATHS UNDER SHOWER IN YOUR HOME

BY ALICIA HART You don't have to go to the sea shore this summer to get the salt bath that is so invigorating. You can have it right in your own bathtub and get much of the tonic stimulation that most folks go to the ocean for.

You use ordinary kitchen salt. But you must expend a certain amount of effort to get the best result. There are two ways of taking a salt bath. One is a tub bath with plenty of salt in the water. Use lukewarm water and put two to three cups of salt in the tub. Sit in it for five or ten minutes. Rub yourself briskly upon getting out and just see how it sets you up.

Or Use The Shower The other way to get your salt bath is via the shower. I think this way is better for the average person. Take ordinary table salt in the palm of your hand and clap it on your neck, shoulders and arms and then rub yourself briskly with either your hand or with a brush. Apply the salt to your stomach, your legs, feet and your back. A long steady brush is no end of help with your shoulders and back. And up the old spine is an important stretch of nerves that this salt rub stimulates.

Take your rub before you get under the shower. Get your flesh all a tingle and then step under the cold shower. Your object strenuously to cold showers, use a warm one.

Just the fact of going to the salt trouble to take a salt rub and bath does something to your will. You feel a kind of superiority complex coming over you. In the dog days of hot summer anything that can give you a superiority complex is the best bet in the world.

Day Dreams Natural For Young Child

BY ANGELO PATRI Who has not taken refuge in a beautiful dream? When things have pressed too hard, when the world has been too much with us, we have slipped away into a realm of beauty, of exquisite peace and godlike power, and been at rest.

After a visit among the castles we have returned to earth, with a sigh for the vanished glory, but with a sense of relief. We have gathered strength, perhaps a vision that enables us to go on and build with better grace.

Children find this world a hard place. They are strangers here and do not know the way of people. They are asked to do strange and difficult things and life becomes a burden to gall their backs.

"Work harder. Think, think. This is no way to do. Get to work and show me something while here. Lazy bones, why are you dawning here?" Poor child. For a moment he has slipped away into that pleasant place where there is no demand for work, the place where there is no pain, no worry, and no prodding voice. Conscience never enters dreamland. It too, is happily excluded.

Too well I know that too much dreaming will not answer. If we wear a path to the dreamplace we are likely to follow it and ignore all other ways. That way sorrow lies. It is well to rest when weary but too much rest ends in that long silence that the soul of men must shun.

Deal gently with the daydreaming child. Before you drive him out of paradise consider well why he has hidden himself there. What was it from which he fled? Was it you? Have you driven him too hard? Have you tried to send him along a road that he could not see? Have you laid too heavy a load upon him? Why did he shut his door behind him and retreat to the silence?

You must answer the question before you have the answer to the child's problem. Drugging him out will not help you for he holds the key to that dreamplace and uses it even while you thunder in his ears.

How well is this child? Is he struggling along with an ailing body? Is it very hard to live triumphantly when your bones ache and your feet are like lumps of lead? Is it impossible to find joy in a still life?

Then see what state his mental house is in and clean it well. Let the sweet breeze of laughter blow through it, let the warm sunshine of love warm it, let cheerfulness shine and love reign in it. As he thinks in his heart, so he is. A happy successful child will not escape from reality often. TOURISTS

The distant view so hard to see from the moving train or boat becomes clear and brilliant with a surprising steadiness and magnification when you use binoculars or sport glasses. You will miss many interesting sights without them. It is surprising how our binoculars bring very distant objects within a few feet of you. No extra charge for leather case, and carrying strap. These binoculars and sport glasses require very small space in your luggage, and still so valuable to have.

in Embarrass River
Near Beach

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Frank Guyette, fireman, was painfully burned about the chest and face at the Borden factory Thursday when a flash of fire from the boilers suddenly ignited some oil. Mr. Guyette's eyes, nose and mouth were singed, and the lower part of his face and neck were burned. His overalls also caught fire, but the flames were extinguished quickly.

A swift underecurrent in the Embarrass river near where the public bathing beach is located, nearly caused the death of Raymond Brush, 9, son of John Brush, Avon-st. The boy had attempted to swim from the beach to the boom, when the current drew him underneath. Due to the immediate attention of the life guard, the child was saved. He suffered no ill effects.

The boy, with his brother, Arthur, had been spending the day with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Dexter, and were returning home when the youngest brother, Ernest, was overcome. He was brought to a physician's office for treatment.

Ernest Wochnick, 11, sustained cuts and bruises about the head and an injured right arm when he was thrown from a motorcycle on which he was riding with his brother, Maurice. The accident occurred on Highway 26, near the golf course. The driver of the motorcycle attempted to pass a trailer, lost control and the machine went into the ditch. The boy was brought to the city by J. F. Dreger of Oshkosh, who was one of the first to give assistance.

CANNING PLANT OPENS SEASON'S PACK AT CHILTON

Exceptionally Good Early Pea Crop Indicated for Current Year

Chilton—(P)—The Chilton Canning Co., opened for the season Wednesday afternoon and reports indicate that the early crop of peas is unusually good. This is believed to be due to the character of the spring season, which on the whole has been cool, with a reasonably sufficient amount of moisture. It is believed that the later crop will not be as productive as the early crop now being harvested. This is the thirty-fourth year that this plant has been operating and although for the past few years many plants throughout the state have been closed, the Chilton plant under the management of Edward Bank, continues to operate successfully. For the past ten years this company has engaged in two supplementary industries, the fattening of western cattle, and the cutting and selling of large quantities of fire wood. The cattle are bought here in the fall, usually in the stock yards of St. Louis, and are shipped during the winter months they are fed on the canning company's farms and when they have reached a desirable weight are sold on the Chicago markets. The supply for the firewood has been obtained principally from the low lands along the upper course of the Manitowoc river, mainly in the town of Chilton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ruess, and daughter of The Dalles, Ore., are visiting the former's brother, Walter, and his sister Mrs. Fred DeVoss. They made the trip by automobile.

FIRE DESTROYS MINK FARM ON SHORE OF RIVER

Loss Estimated at $4,000, According to Irwin Schoepel, Owner

Menasha—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the mink farm of Irwin Schoepel at the east end of Keyes-st on the south shore of the Fox river at 3:30 Friday evening. The total loss is estimated at $4,000, of which $1,200 is covered by insurance. The insurance covers the buildings.

One hundred and twenty-five young mink housed in pairs in small coops were burned. Thirty old mink also were killed. Fourteen old animals, which had been segregated and housed in a row of coops about 15 feet from the others, were not touched by the fire.

Schoepel, who resides with his parents at 733 Broad-st, was summoned by several friends, who saw the fire. He jumped into a boat and started across the river to the farm. Half way over he became excited and jumped into the water, swimming to the opposite shore. Leaping over the high fence which surrounded the long rows of mink coops, he attempted to release the animals, but the flames had gained too much headway.

The Menasha fire department battled the flames until after 10 o'clock. Chemicals and truck tank lines were used in combatting the blaze.

Most of the farm equipment in the large barn on the river bank was destroyed. A large quantity of straw and feed also was reduced to ashes. Many of the animals were killed by the flames while others suffocated from the dense smoke from the piles of straw in the center of the long line of mink houses.

Mr. Schoepel plans to rebuild several coops, and will keep on raising mink with the 14 animals saved.

DRY LEADERS MAPPING OUT DRIVE PLANS

Meet at Capital to Assure Unity in Prohibition Campaign for 1932

Washington—More than a score of prohibition leaders gathered in the capital today as members of a "board of strategy" to lay plans for coordinated action in the 1932 campaign.

Leaders in the group, composed of representatives of both new and old-line prohibition organizations, disclosed the board purposely was meeting as such nearly a year in advance of the coming major party conventions in order to rally support for those two occasions.

As the board met this morning, however, one of its members pledged to the statement that the organized dry forces thus far had fallen short in their plans and that his newly created group planned to seek "fresh support for the dry law."

Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York, chairman of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, asserted yesterday he believed this new support, from sources he said thus far had not been touched by organized dry efforts, was necessary to "weight the balance between defeat and victory in 1932."

In discussing details of the Allied forces' plans for a campaign into 257 cities in as many days, Dr. Poling said he believed that "instead of dispersing the support now accorded the prohibition league and the W. C. T. U., we will bring them fresh strength."

"Under no circumstances," he said, "would a single dollar of the funds now pledged to us have gone to any other dry organization."

To start in Ohio

The campaign as he outlined it would start in Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 8. Two appointed speakers would hold a series of meetings there on that day, to be followed by two more on the second day and two more on the next day. By the third day, he said, the first two speakers would have been to Indianapolis and on to St. Louis.

The plan contemplates leaving in each of 42 cities on the first swing an organized dry group prepared to expend itself in its own locality.

Dr. Poling said that already 168 leagues had been organized, and that more than 20 state organizations "that had begun independent action have united with the new national movement."

Other plans of the new group include the publishing of a weekly newspaper and the distribution of "special literature." "The movement will be strictly non-partisan," Dr. Poling said, "we already have associated with us Republicans, Democrats, and Progressives. We have tried to commit no one as to how he shall vote after the conventions, pledging them only to work for dry planks and candidates in both parties."

He said he did not mention either Allied Forces or prohibition in a conference yesterday with President Hoover, since some of those in the organization were of an opposite political faith and would not approve of any linking of the movement with the administration.

Big Jim Thorpe Starts On Long Road To Comeback

Hollywood, Calif.—(AP)—Big Jim Thorpe is a movie actor now, wearing the hide-and-feather regalia of his Indian forefathers, but movie-acting doesn't represent the end of his comeback ambitions.

Long an outstanding example of individual excellence in the sports world, particularly in football, Thorpe is casting an eye to the future and what it holds.

Thorpe was found by a newspaperman not long ago digging ditches for the county as a $4-a-day laborer. The resultant story brought him letters from all over the country expressing "sympathy for his plight" and some offering jobs.

QUICK ACCORD IS EXPECTED ON DEBT PROGRAM

Parliament shortly after the note had been laid before the French Chamber of Deputies for debate. The proposal must have the approval of that group.

Shortly after making public these, Secretary Stimson called at the White House with Undersecretary Mills of the treasury. They had nothing to say when they left. Mills had been taking part in the negotiations through which the Federal Reserve bank of New York will make a short term loan to Germany.

OPEN NEGOTIATIONS Paris—(AP)—Negotiations seeking to harmonize the views of the United States and France on President Hoover's proposal for a war debts and reparations holiday will open tomorrow between Andrew W. Mellon, American secretary of the treasury and French officials.

Premier Laval today said he would meet Mr. Mellon and Ambassador Edge at the ministry of the interior. The French finance minister, budget minister and Foreign Minister Erlanger will be present and technical discussions will take place.

The announcement came in the midst of a presentation of the inter-change of views thus far before the chamber of deputies and followed the receipt of a brief reply to the French memorandum on the Hoover proposals expressing the hope of the American government that the French government would "take advantage of the presence of the secretary of the treasury in Paris and discuss with him the various problems arising from the original proposal of the president and the French answer."

The French memorandum, which was handed to Ambassador Edge several days ago and was made public today followed the broad outlines of suggestions previously published.

The reply says that the French government declared itself in cordial agreement with the high sentiments inspiring the Hoover plan but expressed belief that in the very interests of the success of Mr. Hoover's effort, the general suspension of payments alone would offer an insufficient remedy.

The reply says that the French government considers that there is a moral interest of the first order that "even during the delay suggested by President Hoover, the payment of the unpaid" annuity in no way be deferred."

French Proposition

The French government declares its readiness, subject to the approval of parliament, "to place at the disposal of the Bank of International Settlements a sum equal to its share of one year of the non-postponable annuity with the sole exception of the amounts necessary to the execution of the balance of the current contracts for payments in kind, a proceeding which, moreover, is advantageous to German economy."

The sums turned over to the bank "could be utilized at once for improving credit in Germany as well as in countries of central Europe, and especially those in which the suspension of the annuity of the Young plan during one year would create financial or economic disturbance."

The French government also expressed belief that all necessary precautions should be taken in order that these sums as well as those to be derived from the easing of the budget of the bank as a result of the suspension of the Young plan payments for one year may only be used for economic purposes, all danger of financing or dumping being eliminated.

"Lastly," says the memorandum, "it will be advisable to contemplate before the expiration of the period of one year an examination of measures to be taken by Germany for the resumption of her payments."

The text of the various interchanges between the American and French governments were read in the chamber of deputies where numerous interpellations have been filed. The chamber listened in silence to the reading until the premier reached that part of the president's proposal in which the reparations problem was characterized as uniquely Europe's affair. The deputies here broke loose with a demonstration against this idea.

The chamber then adjourned for 40 minutes to allow time for reading of the documents by the deputies.

FIRE CHIEF WARNS AGAINST FIREWORKS

Neenah—Louis Rausch, chief of the fire department, has issued his annual warning relative to the use, storage and discharging of fireworks. Warning is especially given against throwing firecrackers in dry places where a fire might result. The department will cooperate with the police department in enforcing the state and city regulations. Already some merchants have sold fireworks, and a timely warning, according to the chief, will have a lot of trouble and possible fire damage. People have been asked by Mayor George E. Sande to refrain from discharging of crackers until the evening of July 3.

3. Illegal fireworks will be watched for closely by the police and fire departments.

FINED $10, COSTS Neenah—William Buck of Oshkosh was fined $10 and costs Thursday afternoon by Justice George Harness when he pleaded guilty of drunk and disorderly conduct. He was arrested on E. Wisconsin-ave.

STOP CONSTIPATION THIS PLEASANT WAY

ONCE PEOPLE thought pills and drugs were the only way to relieve constipation. But the modern, safer method is to include sufficient roughage in the diet. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal, gives you this bulk, and overcomes constipation naturally. Read this enthusiastic letter:

"Mine was an extreme case of constipation. I had almost given up hopes of ever being relieved. One day I came across your advertisement, so I thought I would try ALL-BRAN. It relieved me almost immediately and I have had no trouble since, which was almost three months ago." Mrs. E. E. Leslie, 2104 Lyman St., Flint, Michigan.

Delicious when served with milk or cream. Cook into tasty bran muffins, breads, omelets, etc. ALL-BRAN also adds needed iron to the diet. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The original All Bran.

13,612 STORES IN WISCONSIN, BUREAU OF CENSUS REPORTS

State Has a Proportionately Higher Number Than Whole Country

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington—Wisconsin had a proportionately higher number of retail stores than any of its neighboring states in 1929, according to an announcement of the census bureau. There was a total of 39,612 stores or 13.3 stores for every 1,000 inhabitants in the Badger state in 1929, according to the Census of Distribution for 1930. The net annual sales of these stores amounted to $1,232,338, or $419.73 per capita. For the country as a whole, there were 1,549,168 stores or 12.6 per 1,000 inhabitants. The total net annual sales of these stores in 1929 amounted to $50,038,850,702, and with $3,000,000,000 more from direct sales of manufacturers and other producers, nearly equalled two-thirds of the unofficially estimated total annual income of the country from all sources. It is five times the value of the average annual farm crop of the nation.

Thus Wisconsin not only surpassed the country's average number of farms but beat its average per capita purchasing power of $407.53 by $11.20 cents.

Neighboring states recorded the following numbers of stores, all proportionately lower than the Badger state:

Michigan 55,290 or 11.6 per 1,000, Minnesota, 51,027 or 12.1 per 1,000,

Illinois, 47,074 or 12.7 per 1,000; Indiana, 41,796 or 12.9 per 1,000; and Ohio, 84,042 or 12.6 per 1,000. In per capita purchasing power only Minnesota, with $418.02, and Indiana, with $379.59, were lower than Wisconsin's $419.73. Michigan's individual purchasing power was $461.67; Illinois', $458.23; and Ohio's $459.89.

The lowest per capita purchasing power among the 48 states was $172 found in South Carolina and the highest, $575 in California and New York. The District of Columbia surpassed all states with $651. Wisconsin was twenty-first among the states and the District in this respect. It was seventeenth in proportionate number of stores, which ranged from 8.1 per 1,000 in Alabama to 15.3 in Oregon and Florida.

MANY ATTEND ANNUAL PICNIC FOR LUTHERANS

Special to Post-Crescent Shiocton — A large crowd attended the tenth annual picnic given by members of the Lutheran Congregation at Hamlin park Sunday. A Chicken dinner was served. Music was furnished by the Shiocton band. The Shiocton baseball team met defeat on the home diamond Sunday afternoon from the Appleton Merchants. The score was 5-3. Next Sunday Shiocton will play New London at the latter place. Albert Rousseau and daughter Evelyn attended the Fond du Lac County Normal school commencement exercises at Fond du Lac Monday. The former's nephew Kenneth Meating, New London, was a member of the class.

Los Angeles—"If Johanna Smith helped to break up your home, why don't you name her as co-respondent?" Superior Judge Walter Guerin asked Mrs. Maud Adams. "Your honor," explained Mrs. Adams' attorney, "this Johanna Smith isn't a woman, she's a gambling ship." Mrs. Adams was granted a divorce from her husband after she told how he spent his money on the boat.

SHARE PRICES CLIMB BACK TO BEST LEVELS

Trading More Sober on Wall Street Friday, Reports Indicate

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York —(P)—Share prices in the New York market climbed back to the best levels of the recovery in more sober trading today, as reports from both Paris and Washington remained optimistic over the prospect of an early accord on war debts.

Trading slackened considerably, but the upward trend of prices was well maintained, as it was in the London and Paris markets. The mild reaction late yesterday only attracted fresh buying, and the list generally soon pushed up to around the best levels in yesterday's active trading.

Steels were particularly strong. Although the industry expects several more weeks of extreme dullness, unconfirmed rumors of a new Bethlehem-Youngstown merger situation helped these issues generally. Youngstown gained more than 7 points and advanced 2 to 3 to 4 were recorded by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and National, and accessories were also well bought. Eaton Axle rising about 5. Miscellaneous issues rising about 2 to 4 included American Telephone, American Can, International Telephone, American and Canadian Power, New York Central, Atchafalpa, Dupont, Union Carbide, Anaconda and American Smelting.

Commodity prices continued to work higher in the main. Bradstreet's Weekly food index recorded the first advance since April 2. Some observers express the opinion that prices held the market steady and that an upward sustained for any length of time will bring a flood of buying as depleted inventories are replenished, and idle investment funds at last seek employment.

The bond market continued to work higher. The Taiwan (Formosa) Electric Power issue, the first foreign issue excepting Canadian to be offered publicly in this market in a year, was quickly taken by retailers, and international bankers held high hopes that it might mark the return of the normal functioning of Wall Street as a world capital market. The weekly statements showed another gain in the monetary gold stock of $4,915,000, to a total of $4,915,000, 000. This is roughly one-half of the world's monetary gold, and several economists feel that the United States must find means of making this enormous hoard useful to the rest of the world, if world economic conditions are to be restored.

The weekly statements also reviews the stimulating effects of the war debt proposal upon commodity markets, and indicated that retail trade was well maintained, with warm weather helping the movement of vacation goods. Little aggregate change in general trade was noted, however, at the end of the week were slightly easier, with some call money offered below the official rate of 13 per cent. The weekly bank statements showed that the federal reserve system was still maintaining its aggressive easy money policy by purchasing bills and government securities.

FOREIGN ISSUES LEAD NEW YORK BOND MART

New York —(P)—Led by foreign, stock privilege and industrial obligations the bonds market continued to gain irregularly today. The market was somewhat more active.

German issues provided a large part of the volume in the foreign group but many of the midwest gains were scored by Latin American obligations. The German 5 1/2s of 1928-30 showed the strongest strength and at one time sold 2 points higher than the final sale yesterday.

Australian 5 1/2s of 1927 made split gains and other issues from that continent moved ahead also. This strength was a reflection in part of the British government plan to include its dominions in the intergovernmental debt consortium. The plan of Premier Ramsay MacDonald to Wales to impose heavy emergency taxes possibly exerted a bullish influence also. Argentine 6s of May 1931, Brazilian 6 1/2s of 1928-37, Colombian 6s of October 1931, Peruvian 6s advance sharply.

LIVESTOCK MARKET DISPLAYS BUOYANCY

Responds to Active Shipping and Local Demand for Light Hogs

Chicago —(P)—Responding to a fairly active shipping and local demand for light hogs, the market displayed buoyancy which carried choice hogs weighing under 220 lbs. 10c-15c higher than the average of the previous day. Packers received 4,000 hogs direct from outside points and about 10,000 fresh and 7,000 stale hogs were in the open market. Selected weights weighing around 200 lbs. were taken readily by eastern buyers at $7.40-7.50, while heavy butchers and packing sows were in demand at $7.10-7.25.

Mounting temperatures again slow down action in the cattle market, though, the scant supply of 1,500, which included over 300 head billed straight to packers. Packers received for 2,350 lambs forwarded from other markets, leaving less than 6,000 sheep and lambs available in the selling game.

GRAIN PRICES MAKE FURTHER GAINS ON MART

Surprise Conference Is Held With Head of Federal Farm Board

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago —(P)—Higher grain prices and broader speculative buying developed today after a surprise conference which Chairman Stone of the Federal Farm Board held with President Hoover. Simultaneous reports that the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, government sponsored agency, had ceased selling June delivery of wheat were much commented upon. Optimism about an agreement with France relative to debt plans had a further stimulating influence.

Acting as a handicap to friends of higher prices for wheat were Liverpool reports that Russia was offering large quantities for August loading. Black Sea shipments showed an increase for the week, lifting the total since Aug. 1 to 105,039,000 bushels, against 22,744,000 during the corresponding period a year previous. Advances of 1/2c decreases of wheat acreage in Australia and Argentina were almost ignored.

Sharp wheat market rallies followed news, however, that Chairman Stone of the Federal Farm Board was at the White House, presumably to confer with President Hoover regarding advisability of a more definite statement of the board's policy regarding 200,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat owned by farm board allies. Bulls contended that announcement that wheat would be kept off the market the remainder of the year would lift values. Corn and oats advanced on account of crop damage indications.

Provisions were depressed by liquidation of July contracts. Grain Notes
Chicago —Late reports from Winnipeg said a rail futures toward the last was attributed to buying for foreign account, and Chicago interests. Later this support was not in evidence.

Liberal export sales of wheat have been made of late on the Pacific coast by the farm board. No figures are given, but indications are that they are more than 1,000,000 bushels. Crop conditions on the Pacific coast this year are unfavorable, owing to lack of rain, both for winter and spring wheat. It is estimated that this year's crop will be around 60,000,000 to 65,000,000 bushels, with practically no carryover, as compared with 80,000,000 bushels and 20,000,000 bushels carryover last year.

"The market confronted with the pathetic spectacle of very depressed prices, caused largely by the holding over of an unwieldy and abnormal surplus in the hands of the farm board," said S. C. Harlan, a great deal of publicity was given to the benefits which the farmer received at the time the farm board supported old crop wheat. It should be borne in mind that the farmer owned only part of his crop at that time. Now a very large new crop of winter wheat is being depressed in price by the existence of this holding.

TRADING FALLS OFF ON N. Y. CURB MART

Floating Supply of Leading Shares Is Reduced—Trend Firm

New York —(P)—The curb market was strong in spots today and firm in others, but trading was less active than during recent stages of the recovery. However, the floating supply of leading shares seemed to have been reduced and whenever active trading picked up prices advanced rather easily.

Heavy buying of Woolworth limited was a feature. The stock, listed a few days ago, made a new high in a large turnover and was the busiest issue among the specialties which otherwise were somewhat quiet. Demand for the metal shares held down a bit. Aluminum of America extended yesterday's top quotation and there was notable strength in Pratt and Lambert.

Electric Bond and Share opened more than a point above the previous close and gradually extended its rise. Interests in the oils was slight compared with their strenuous advances earlier in the week. The curb market renewal rate on call money was 2 per cent.

New York —(P)—Stockholders of Tobacco Products Co. have approved a reduction in authorized class "A" stock to 2,342 shares from 2,487,000, and in common stock to 3,298,000 shares from 5,000,000.

Dow, Jones and Co. says that steel plant operations in the Youngstown district probably will decline next week two per cent to 39 per cent of rated capacity.

FINISH WORK ON LINDBERGH VACATION SHIP

Large Monoplane Almost Ready for Trip to Japan and China

BY SHERMAN B. ALTICK

New York.—The pontoon-equipped monoplane Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will use on their projected 6,000-mile flight to the Orient this summer is practically ready for the start of the long aerial trek along the waterways of two continents.

The inspection of the plane today disclosed that work on the installation of the pontoons and nearly all the accessories the airman will carry with him on his "vacation trip" with Mrs. Lindbergh to Japan and China practically has been completed at the college point plant of the Edo Aircraft company.

Only a few adjustments are necessary before the plane will be ready for the flight near the top of the world, for Col. Lindbergh has indicated that he and his wife will follow the "great circle" course to his destination.

Although Col. Lindbergh has flown the plane since the pontoons were installed he has not yet made the load tests and final check flights. He probably will test the craft this week after engine mechanics finish their work on the big radial air-cooled motor installed in the plane about a year ago by the same Wright engineers that designed the engine which carried him safely across the Atlantic in 1927.

Twice As Fast

The plane is more than twice as fast as the one he used on his first trip to Paris, and instead of a mere 230-horsepower engine this one has a motor rated at close to 700 horsepower. This is the same low-winged Lockheed Sirius monoplane he flew on his record one-stop transatlantic trip on Easter Sunday a year ago, with Mrs. Lindbergh. It now has three rudders and an auxiliary wing. The extra wing is between the two pontoons on the spreader bar. It is a regular airfoil section, built on to the spreader bar, giving about 400 pounds of lift, compensating for the extra weight of the pontoons.

Aviation experts who know Lindbergh believe he is aiming at specific technical results of which the public has not yet been apprised. His flight not only will attract the attention of the hero worshiping masses but it will attract the technicians.

DEATHS IN CLASS

REDUCED IN 1930

Fewer Persons in Early Thirties Succumbed in Last Year

Madison.—A total of 767 deaths from all causes in 1930 among Wisconsin men and women in their early thirties marked a reduction of 75 from the toll of the preceding years, according to the bureau of vital statistics, state board of health.

Lowering of both tuberculosis and accident deaths lists made this unusual gain possible. Tuberculosis was the principal cause of death in this age group, taking a toll of 155 lives, 34 less than in 1929, and the accident toll was 107 as compared with 119 deaths in the preceding year.

Cancer jumped from sixth to third place among the leading death causes among the 30-to-34 year group, taking 88 lives as compared with 44 in 1929. Heart diseases were fourth in importance, and women of this group suffered 73 deaths from puerperal causes.

Decreases in the death from pneumonia, appendicitis and nephritis were recorded in this age group, but suicides mounted from 27 to 34 cases in a comparison of the two years' mortality, and cerebral hemorrhage claimed 16 lives to supplant influenza in tenth place among the leading death causes.

Deaths from alcoholism, which had stood at 11 cases in each of the two preceding years, totaled only five in the group in 1930, the bureau's survey revealed.

SENATE CONCURS IN

BLAHNIK RESOLUTION

Madison.—(P)—The Senate yesterday concurred in the Blahnik resolution memorializing congress to adopt and submit to the state for ratification a proper amendment to the constitution for the purpose of eliminating the eighteenth amendment from the United States constitution.

The resolution, introduced by Assemblyman Jacob J. Blahnik, Algonquin, said in part:

"The eighteenth amendment was ratified through hysteria under the stress of war conditions. It never had and never will have that public sanction without which it cannot be enforced.

".....the eighteenth amendment and its impossibility of enforcement have brought both the federal constitution and law into disrepute and it is a subject for jesting throughout the world."

The senate, through concurrence of two resolutions, yesterday brought to a total of four the list of requests to the state highway commission for investigation of the feasibility of scenic highways.

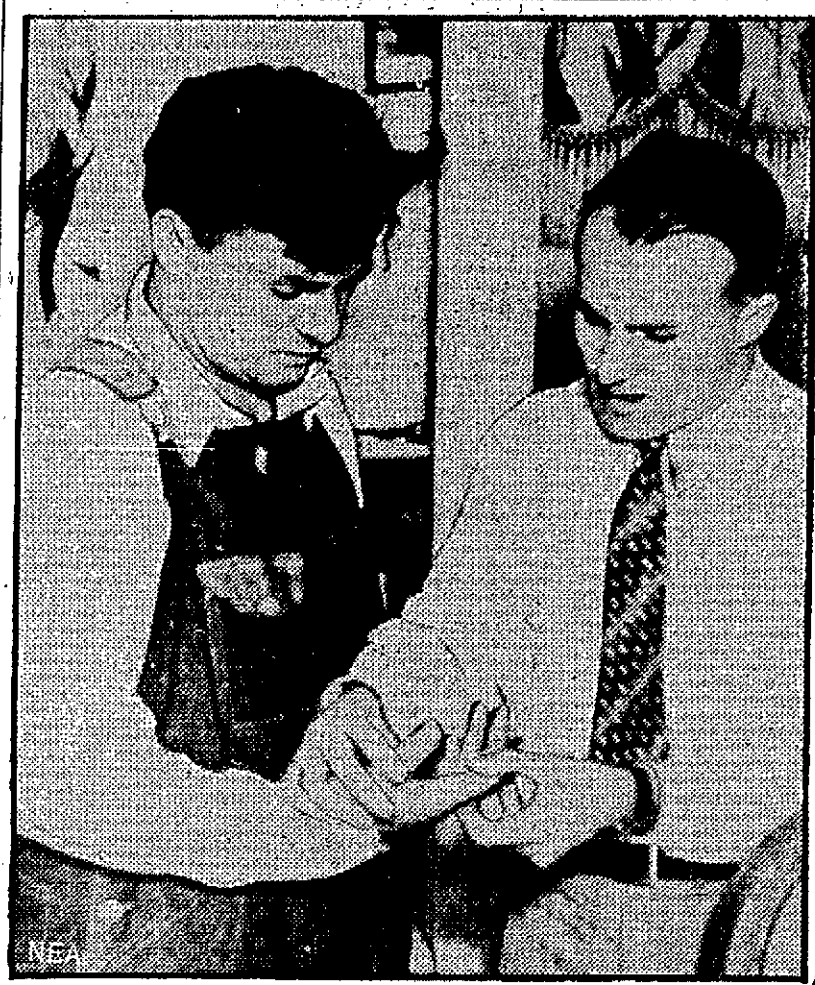

The resolutions concurred in yesterday were:

By Frank A. Kellman, Galesville.—Instructing the highway commission to study the feasibility of building a scenic highway along the Mississippi and St. Croix rivers.

By G. Earle, Eau Claire.—requesting a similar study for a highway along the Chippewa and Flambeau rivers.

The senate already has endorsed resolutions by Sen. John E. Cashman, Denmark, for a study of a proposed highway from the Illinois line to Marinette along Lake Michigan, and Sen. Philip Nelson, Maple, for a similar investigation along the south shore of Lake Superior.

Man Held in Insurance Probe

Considered dead and buried for four months, John M. Smith, left, wealthy manufacturer and one time candidate for governor of Iowa, was found alive, his hands and feet tied together with wire, in a ditch near Garner, Ia., and now faces prosecution on charges of attempting to defraud his insurance company of $50,000. Smith, who declared he had been kidnapped and held prisoner, is shown being fingerprinted by Sheriff Peck Hanson of Garner.

New York.—(CPA)—Edward S. Harkness, honored by the Pilgrimage society of London, is a shy man who furiously gives away millions. He inherited $50,000,000 from the Standard Oil fortune of his father, mother and brother, and his beneficiaries to date have been about $55,000,000—chiefly to education, medicine and charity.

This does not mean that Mr. Harkness is impoverishing himself. He is a shrewd business man and his fortune has been growing. A Yale alumnus, class of 1897, he tried to give Yale a few millions to establish the unit housing plan. President Lowell had other ideas, so, a year later, Mr. Harkness quietly handed Harvard $12,000,000 to establish such a system. Then Yale made revisions by which it was possible to accept Mr. Harkness' gifts. The total of his gifts to Yale, made and pledged, is said to be $15,000,000.

He has a beautiful estate at Goshen Point, near New London, Conn., with a ten-hole golf course. His hobbies are railroad management, cryptology and golf. His father was Stephen V. Harkness, a partner in the old Standard Oil Co.

His first check from the New York magazine arrived the day he received an alluring offer for a band contract. He ditched the band and started rowelling New York with his satirical drawings.

Mayor Charles H. Kline of Pittsburgh, against whom a presentment for grand jury indictment is being prepared today, owes his present embarrassment to certain unlucky portions of bean soup. The citizens' league, delving into the conduct of Pittsburgh's expensive new home for indigents, found the inmates eating bean soup while the superintendent ate winter strawberries.

They followed this lead, with resulting charges of fraud and mismanagement against the city administration. Mr. Kline is an alumnus of the University of Pittsburgh, a lawyer and a former judge. He built his own political machine. The Pittsburgh battle is widely entangled with state politics.

LA FOLLETTE SUPPORTS

PROPOSED MORATORIUM

Madison.—(P)—Sen. Robert M. La Follette, Jr., of Wisconsin, Wednesday informed President Hoover that he will support the proposed one-year moratorium. In a telegram despatched to the president, he said:

"I am telegraphing a statement of my attitude toward the proposals of the American government in respect to postponement for one year of all intergovernmental debts has just been received.

"While it is my firm conviction that a strict adherence to the spirit of the Constitution would require that Congress be called in extraordinary session to act directly and promptly upon this proposal and other pressing economic issues nevertheless I do not hesitate to inform you that I shall support legislation to carry out the proposal contained in your statement as quoted above.

"I wish to emphasize the fact that I do not interpret this proposal for intergovernmental debt suspension for one year as an entering wedge for debt cancellation and I shall

MANY STROKES ARE CAUSED BY HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

State Medical Society Says
Prompt Attention Is Necessary

Madison.—High blood pressure is the real cause of many of the deaths due to a "stroke." In the beginning the disease is not so dangerous but it becomes a menace to health through inattention. High blood pressure is usually the cause for those rather common reports of death from a stroke of apoplexy.

The Educational Committee of the State Medical Society in its weekly bulletin declares that prompt attention can keep people from the dangers of high blood pressure.

"In reality the condition is not so much a disease of the heart as it is an exhausted state of the organ brought on by the excessive work necessary to maintain the circulation in the presence of increased pressure in the arteries," hardened condition of the arteries which weakens them so that under a particularly hard stress a small vessel in the brain may give way and the individual has what is known as an apoplectic stroke.

"If the kidneys are not already diseased and the initial cause of the high blood pressure, they also may become deranged leading eventually to a fatal outcome by Bright's Disease. High blood pressure with normal kidneys may be present for many years but high blood pressure associated with kidney disease is a serious matter.

"Thus, high blood pressure, unrelieved, leads after years to one of three disastrous terminations, an exhausted heart, an apoplectic stroke, or death from chronic kidney disease.

Don't Know Cause

"No one knows just what is the cause of high blood pressure. Many causes have been suggested such as excessive meat eating, excessive coffee, tea, or alcoholics, infected teeth and tonsils, constipation, heart disease, over weight, and a host of others but it is doubtful if any of these have anything to do with the initial establishment of high blood pressure.

"There is a normal increase in blood pressure with an increase of age. One often hears that the blood pressure should be one hundred plus one's age—this is a rough estimate at best and does not generally hold after thirty-five to forty years.

"A normal child never has high blood pressure. Elimination of his waste products is thoroughly maintained by the kidneys assisted by the skin glands and deep respiratory exercises. By thirty most people begin to slow down somewhat and by forty the average person has become more or less sedentary with marked slowing of body activity and addition of weight. This is fairly definite evidence that he eats more than he burns up by exercise.

"The surest way to forestall the advent of high blood pressure is to take stock yearly of the state of the cardio-vascular system by having a thorough physical examination. If you are told after your annual examination that your blood pressure is a little high, do not spend your nights in worry. Medical science has found safe ways of bringing it down, and by following your physician's directions you can live a long, happy and useful life."

continue to oppose such cancellation unless it shall be accompanied by definite agreements for revision downward of reparations and drastic and genuine land and naval armament reduction to relieve taxpayers of the largest single item in their crushing burden in all countries. I shall oppose commitment, direct or implied, that the Government of the United States shall assist in maintaining the peace of Europe or the status quo of the Versailles treaty by other sanctions.

MAYOR CERMAK SWAMPED WITH CITY PROBLEMS

Plans of City Chief Meet Same Sad Fate at Hands of Politicians

BY OWEN L. SCOTT

Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press

Chicago.—(CPA)—Mayor Anton J. Cermak, beset by the growing financial difficulties in Chicago—which seem to rival those of Germany—is about ready to conclude that "Big Bill" Thompson, his unsuccessful opponent in the April mayoral election, was the real winner.

All of the new mayor's plans to place this city on a solvent, business-like basis, so far have met the same sad fate at the hands of politicians. His latest scheme, for a two-weeks' payless vacation for all employees, has hit the snag of council opposition, but to objections by union labor. The legislature, now adjourned, flatly rejected the Cermak program of financial reform, based on demands of bankers and business men.

To complicate matters, taxpayers today had filed suit to have the 1929 tax levy thrown out as "incomplete, illegal, fraudulent, unreviewed and incorrect." Delinquent taxes for the past three years total $170,000,000 and the 1931 assessment has not yet been spread.

The city government is managing to scrape along, paying firemen and policemen, by digging into special funds, and by borrowing against bond issue money. About $19,000,000 is available from this source and Mayor Cermak believes that the government can operate through the summer months. There is some talk of a halt to all public improvements in order that the cash can be on hand to meet payrolls.

Board Is Broke

Meantime, however, the board of education is fast broke, with teachers and civil service employees still unpaid after two months. They have over $9,700,000 coming to them with no real cash in sight. And while teachers are unpaid, taxpayers have appeared before the board of assessors in a howling frame of mind to complain about their levy.

Governor Louis L. Emmerson has told local officials that he will call no special legislative session to untangle the local mess until all officials have agreed on a plan of action.

There is evident a tendency to agree on some plan which would levy taxes on the basis of a percentage of assessed valuation. A top limit would be set, according to one plan, at one and one-half percent of the value. It now is about 2 1/2 per cent. To take up the slack, a more strict application of personal property taxes and an income tax is suggested.

Mayor Cermak already has become dubbed the city's hardest working mayor. He has taken one stand after another in opposition to the politicians of his own party as well as among Republicans. But with all of his own political ability he has been unable to achieve the reform of tax machinery which bankers have made the condition of their help to re-finance the city and get it out of the present state of near-bankruptcy.

HONEST FARMER IS JUST PUZZLED BY NEW-FANGLED NAME

Dawsonville, Ga.—(P)—There's plenty of old-fashioned honesty in the hills of Forsyth-co, but when one wishes one's pocketbook back service is quicker if one uses old-fashioned names.

So B. R. Taylor, Jr., a returned college graduate, discovered when he missed his billfold after a visit to the postoffice. The billfold itself was a gift from a young woman and also contained $30, so Taylor started a thorough search. Remembering that he had seen a farmer named Dishroon in the postoffice who later started homeward with his mule and buggy, Taylor started in pursuit.

"Did you find a billfold in the postoffice, Mr. Dishroon?" asked Taylor when he caught up.

"A what?" asked Mr. Dishroon.

"A billfold."

Mr. Dishroon shook his head and Taylor sadly returned to town.

Some 25 miles farther on Mr. Dishroon had an inspiration. He took something made of leather out of his pocket, examined it carefully, then hailed a passing automobile and sped back to Dawsonville where he located Taylor.

"I guess this was what you were talking about," said Mr. Dishroon as he handed Taylor the billfold. "You get your pocketbook back and I learn a new word."

GOT THE WRONG MAN

Seattle.—L. A. Van Dyke had a four-party phone, but he thought he had a two-party line. It chanced that when he picked up his receiver to make a call he heard a voice making an uncomplimentary remark about his wife. He blamed Clifford Stice, another party on the line, for the remark, and punched him. But Stice was the wrong man and Van Dyke had to settle in court. He hasn't found the right man yet.

USE SURPLUS FUND TO PURCHASE ONLY BEST BONDS, STOCKS

Expert Restates Principles of Sound Investment Practice

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
New York—If we decide to go back to first principles and use our surplus funds, if and when we have any, to buy conservative bonds and high grade preferred stocks instead of speculating in the market with them, it will be necessary to restate the fundamentals of sound investment practice. Most of us have forgotten them, first because of the mania for common stocks which afflicted us in 1928 and 1929 and, secondly, because so many feel they must recoup the losses sustained when that famous bull market collapsed and believe such recovery cannot be made by the slow and thorough method of investing instead of speculating.

And yet the paper profits we made in that hysterical market were not kept and we would be better off today if we had never entered it.
In the first place then there is never any hurry about investing. The speculator often has to make quick decisions but the investor can take his time. In fact if he is to be successful he must take time. He must obtain all the facts or all the facts that are obtainable before he makes a commitment.

To be sure there is no clearly defined line between investment and speculation. Perhaps as good a distinction as can be drawn is to say that the motive in investment is to provide income with safety of principle and the motive in speculation is to make a profit by fluctuations in prices. It is nothing against an investment that it has possibilities of price enhancement but that is not the first thing to look for. A speculator never objects if there is a return on the security he is carrying in a speculative account but the return is a secondary consideration. Now no one can be assured of continuance of income on an investment, nor of the repayment of the principal at maturity if it is a bond, or its sale in the market somewhere near the price originally paid if it is a stock. All the data pertaining to the issue concerned are gathered and patiently studied. If we lack the facilities to do this for ourselves we must find some one to do it for us and even then we ought to check and recheck the data before we act.

It takes a long time to earn and save. Why be in a hurry to turn the proceeds over to some one else to keep for us?

CITY ERECTS SIGN TO PROTECT BATHERS

A sign for the protection of children on their way to the municipal swimming pool will be put up by the street department within the next few days. Youngsters scurry down the hill from Prospect-ave and walk across S. Water-st to the swimming pool without watching for coming cars, which often travel down the Water-st, hill at a high rate of speed. Fearful that the carelessness of the children might result in a serious accident, the city contemplates placing a speed limit on the street during the swimming season.

Child Star Of Silent Days Goes To "Talkies"

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
(Copyright 1931 by Cons. Press)
Hollywood (CFA)—Among the screen stars who are staging a comeback is yellow-haired Madge Evans.
She was around 11 years old when she left the screen ten years ago with the reputation of being a world famous child player in silent pictures.

She recently arrived in Los Angeles, was hurried to the studio without any dinner, tossed into a gown that had been made to her measurements, and given the leading feminine role with Ramon Novarro. Today she had just about breath enough left to remark that talkies are a totally different animal from the silent film.

"And terribly different from the stage, too," she added. For the past few years Miss Evans has been a stage actress in New York and, elsewhere, "On the stage," she explained, "the audience does a big part of the acting. You feel their interest or lack of it and you play your role accordingly. But to walk up to a mike with only a few people present and amid complete quiet—"

She waved a pair of small and expressive hands. They took you back to the old days when Madge
Evans romped and wept her way through most of the melodramas at Fort Lee, in New York. They made a lot of pictures in Fort Lee then.
"Not So Bad."

"And not such bad pictures, either," Miss Evans reminded you. "They are re-making half a dozen of them for the talkies right now."

You may remember her—she had yellow hair in those days, too—as
"The Little Duchess" in the Fort
Lee picture and as tiny "Mimsey"

in the stage production of "Peter Ibbetson." Perhaps you also recall her as the child star of all those "wanted" pictures—"Wanted, a mother," "Wanted, a home," and so on.

"A very nice thing happened the other day," Miss Evans said. "While I was working in the Novarro picture they were getting ready to put me in Lionel Barrymore's new film,
'Peter Ibbetson.' I was only seven years old when I had the role of 'Mimsey,' yet Mr. Barrymore remembered me immediately. He plays the part of my father in 'Guilty Hands.'"

After an absence of ten years
Miss Evans has found that the whole method of picture making has changed. "The lighting, the make-up and everything else would have staggered our little Fort Lee ideas," the actress said. "About the only thing familiar was the fact that they still use actors."

Expect 80 State Golfers At Junior Chamber Of Commerce Meet

FIRST ANNUAL TOURNAMENT TO BE AT KAUKAUNA

Milwaukee Has 15 Entrants Registered; Appleton to Have Ten

APPROXIMATELY 80 Wisconsin state Junior Chamber of Commerce golfers will tee off Saturday morning July 4, at the Kaukauna Country Club course in the qualifying round of the first annual J. C. C. state tournament, according to an estimate of the registration committee of which Wilmer Jennerjohn and A. P. Jensen of Appleton are co-chairmen.

Registrations reached 60 this week, with indications that the usual last-minute rush will add another 20 by next Thursday. Milwaukee has approximately 15, while Sheboygan, Green Bay, Oshkosh and Appleton have about 10 each. Eau Claire, the farthest city, expects to send three and Mayville, the smallest, two. Milwaukee may reach 20 and the next four cities are expected to approach 15 each.

Seven medals, six trophies and several merchandise prizes will be the goal of the links enthusiasts. Topping the prize list is the Fox River Paper Co. silver trophy, a travelling cup for the state champion, now on display in the window of Schlaefers Hardware store. The champion also will be awarded a permanent gold medal as will the medalist in the qualifying round.

The runners-up in the title fight will receive a silver medal and championship of flights 2, C. D. and E, each will receive a bronze medal. A silver loving cup will go to the low four men of each city in the qualifying round. Merchandise prizes will be awarded for special events. These include knit goods donated by the Jersild company of Menasha, and the Appleton Superior Knitting company, Appleton. The qualifying round of medal play will be followed by match play in five flights.

Kaukauna Interested

Members of the Kaukauna Country club have shown great interest in the tourney, the first state meet held on the course which was opened last August. They have appointed their own committees to cooperate with the state J. C. C. group and all judges will be furnished from among its members. The club also is furnishing over 30 caddies each day, is erecting arrows and signs from Appleton to the links and is furnishing a great part of the entertainment.

An interesting feature of the tourney will be the installation of several amplifiers between the fifth and sixth greens. Boy Scouts will "wig-wag" scores to the clubhouse from where they will be announced so that everyone on the links can follow the progress of the meet. The 18 holes of play are 6,040 yards long with No. 8, a 625-yard five-par hole, the longest green. Deep ravines on several holes have gained the course the reputation of "sporty" from several prominent midwest golfers. A spring furnished "liquid refreshment" at the sixth hole.

INDIANAPOLIS NOW AA FLAG CONTENDER

Milwaukee Wins Another from Louisville as Kerns Get 10 Hits

Chicago—(AP)—It may, or may not be due to anything Emmett McCann has said or done, but since he became manager of the Indianapolis club nearly two weeks ago, the Indians have become a factor in the American association race.

Indianapolis' latest manifestation of improvement occurred yesterday when Kansas City was given two over-sized wallopings. The tribe blasted out 23 hits for a 21 to 3 victory in the first game, and nine blows were turned into an 11 to 4 decision in the second contest. Mike Cvetogros held the Blues to eight hits in the opener, and contributed three to his team's attack. Fred Sigas, recently obtained from Cincinnati, rammed out a home run, two doubles and a single to lead the batsmen. Bill Burwell and Lefty Hall divided the pitching in the second game and outlasted Billy Bayne and Lou Fette.

St. Paul retained its half game margin over Louisville, only because both lost. Columbus took the odd game of the series from the Saints, 5 to 2, while Louisville finished its long home stand by dropping its fourth straight to Milwaukee, 5 to 2.

Lefty Gudat held St. Paul to eight scattered hits, while the Red-Blades cashed in on a big eighth inning in which they scored four runs off Russ Van Atta. Bob Welland, Louisville's pitcher, had two bad innings, the fourth and seventh, when Milwaukee scored all its runs. Earl Caldwell permitted the Colonels ten hits, but was offset with men on the bases.

Toledo hit well and with Carl Mays pitching excellent baseball, defeated Minneapolis, 5 to 0. Mays gave only seven hits, while Jimmy Brillhart was cracked for eleven in seven innings.

Golfers and Pros

GOLFERS are a peculiar lot and no fooling. They'll spend more than a little money acquiring a set of clubs and then spend the summer and the next and the next batting a hunk of rubber around hills and dales, alighting to beat the dickens and enthusiastic as kids when they get a single par hole in 18, 37 or 36 holes, when a few lessons probably would make them good players.

But that isn't the only thing. Take the municipal golf course for instance. It's Sunday morning and the course is crowded. After waiting until the group in front gets up to the 200 yard marker or a bit further, you drive off and start on what is intended for a nice morning's recreation. About the time you find your ball and get set for another shot the twosome or threesome up ahead is 100 yards away, dubbing along in a most outrageous fashion and sauntering along as though they had all day.

There's the problem—shall I shoot and take a chance or shall I wait. The decision usually is to wait and while you're doing that the foursome behind starts "pressing" you or blasting golf balls past your shins. You finally get that second shot and then there's another long wait until the foursome in front finishes putting and goes only to know how many liberties they bat that pill back and forth vainly trying to sink it.

And then there's the second, third and fourth hole and so on until about the time you reach the seventh you've no more patience left and to heck with the game.

You finally get something ought to be done about it—attendances should be placed on the course to keep players moving or to keep the other fellow from pounding the ball down your back. Being a public course it's impossible to regulate play in any other way. It seems to us the municipal course would get bigger players if more golfers if they didn't have to face the possibility of killing or getting killed or just battling the ball along when playing on Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

One way of speeding up play among golfers would be to have those who want to play the game get interested in a few lessons. But the golfer, as we said, is a peculiar individual. He lives from one day to the next in hopes he'll "discover" on his own hook how to play the game. That's ridiculous. Some of the boys may learn that way or by watching others but just step on the ball and you'll know how many of their golf-swinging a baseball bat!

And while mentioning lessons and giving the pros a boost in that respect, here's warning to little boys who would be golf pros and have golf concessions at clubs—don't. Years ago a pro gave lessons and sold golf balls, clubs and other equipment; nowadays he gives lessons only and as we've just mentioned, not so many.

Nowadays every butcher, baker and candle stick maker sells a "f" equipment of various and questionable grades. Instead of players buying things from professionals they do their buying everywhere else and the pros are wondering what's happened to business. Golf clubs are purchased at cut prices or wholesale or $1 down and $1 when you catch me. Golf balls are sold anywhere from two bits apiece to 75 cents apiece and they also can be bought everywhere except over the counter at the corner speak easy.

Little boys, if you want to be golf pros get good enough to complete in tournaments and forget about the concessions you may have at some club, or the lessons you may give.

Radio Sports

The Schmeling-Stribling heavyweight championship fight at Cleveland July 3 is to be the theme of several broadcasts next week.

Included will be an interview with James J. Corbett, former champion, by Grandland Rice on WEA-FNC Wednesday night. Corbett is expected to give his opinion on the outcome of the scrap.

At noon Friday, WEA-FNC will carry the story of the weighing in of Schmeling and Stribling which is to take place in the studio of WTAM, Cleveland.

That night, according to arrangements now being made, the fight itself will be described for the NBC network.

Golf will comprise three WEA-FNC broadcasts made by O. B. Keeler, Atlanta sports writer, July 2, 3 and 4. On July 2 and 3 he will give a resume of the play in the national open at Toledo, while on the fourth he will broadcast, with the use of a portable transmitter, the final rounds of the important matches, from 5:30 to 6:00 p. m.

YANKS AND BRITISH START RYDER MATCHES

Columbus, O.—(AP)—On the crest of a hot wave that has baked the fairways of the Scioto country club the British and American professional golf forces adopted an old Scottish custom today—the two-ball four-somes—for the opening of competition for the Ryder cup.

Defending the trophy they won from their rivals at Moortown two years ago, the British entered the first day's golfing joust with their Captain Charles Whitcombe, withdrawn somewhat unexpectedly from the tourneys. The British match play champion will reserve his efforts for the singles tomorrow, together with the baby of the invading team, 24-year-old Bert Hodson.

Chapman Revives Art Of Base Stealing In Majors

BY JOHN B. FOSTER

NEW YORK—(AP)—No individual achievement on the ball field stands out more conspicuously in 1931 than the record of 26 stolen bases made to date by Ben Chapman of the Yankees. It is an extraordinary performance, not because it is a record for all time but because it shows an aptitude for base running so far in excess of that displayed by any player in recent years.

Ten seasons ago, George Sisler led the American league in stolen bases with 35. The chronicler of those days naively wrote: "The American league did not pay much attention to base running in this season." That is obvious enough, but the man who reviewed the records could not pass them up without making a point of the scarcity of stolen bases.

When Ty Cobb was a motive power in the American league, one of the big attractions of all games was the base running and the junior circuit got little satisfaction in talking about it. The patrons liked it. There never has been a season or a period in baseball when the spectators have not been enthusiastic over good base running.

Sisler was considered to be a good base runner but he did not steal a "half century." In 1921, Frank Frisch in the National league, a fair base runner, stole 49 bases but the National league did not deem much about base running then. It had become a lost art in both leagues. Compared With Cobb

In 1922 Sisler was more himself. He played better ball than he had in any season on the diamond and writers began to compare him with Ty Cobb. He stole 51 bases in 1922 and he was also the champion batter with a percentage of .420 in 142 games.

From that time to the present base running in both leagues has dragged. Players who might be good base runners have been hugging the bags because their managers have thought the free batting would get them home and there always was danger that a runner would rush headlong into a double play because of the constant line hitting.

This year Chapman started to steal bases and found it was a natural performance. He is a clever base runner. He has the old time knack of stealing a lead on the pitcher and he seems to divine what the pitcher will do and governs himself in the proper manner when he is about to cut one base for the next.

The next best base runner in the American league is Johnson of Detroit, but he never has quite attained the skill that had been predicted for him in California. His moods seem to be against him.

While the American league has been getting a little attention because Chapman has become a dashing base runner the art is still a lost one in the National league.

GEORGE WATKINS STEALS HOME AND BEATS BROOKLYN

Browns Drop Athletics Twice; Macks Now Lead A. L. by Single Game

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

GEORGE Watkins, brilliant young St. Louis outfielder, stole a game at Brooklyn yesterday. The teams were battling on even terms up to the seventh inning and Dazzy Vance had not allowed a man to reach first in his duel with Paul Derringer. Then Watkins, the twenty-first man to face Vance, beat out a bunt. Jimmy Bottomley singled and sent him to third. As Vance threw to first to hold Bottomley on the sack, Watkins streaked for home and slid in for a perfect steal of the base and the game.

Vance allowed only one more hit but Derringer kept the Robins six blows scattered and prevented any Brooklyn scoring.

Cards Gain Full Game

Watkins' feat enabled the Cards to gain a full game on their leading rivals, New York and Chicago, both of which lost. The Giants could not solve Benny Freyre's pitching and dropped a 6 to 0 decision to the Cincinnati Reds. They got only six hits. Chicago's Cubs were on the short end of a 4 to 3 score in a tight duel with the Boston Braves. Fred Frankhouse held the Cubs to seven hits while Earl Sheely drove in two Boston counters with a triple and Back Wilson muffed a fly to pave the way for the winning counter.

Clise Dudley turned in another fine pitching performance, holding Pittsburgh to five hits in the fourth National league game while the Phillies pounded out a 5 to 1 victory. Chuck Klein's eighteenth homer featured.

Macks Lead by Game

The sudden rejuvenation of the St. Louis Browns and the steady play of the Washington Senators in the American league were combined to reduce Philadelphia's lead to a single game. The Browns took two games from the Athletics, winning the first 6 to 5 and the second 8 to 5. A homer by Red Kress with two on helped break George Earnshaw's winning streak after 12 games in the first contest while heavy hitting behind Walter Stewart turned the trick in the second.

The Senators, led to four hits by Vic Sorrell, defeated Detroit 4 to 3. Sorrell gave seven walks and Spencer followed them with three hits to drive in all the Senator runs.

The New York Yankees went on a home run spree with Ben Chapman in the lead to take two games from Chicago. Chapman hit for the circuit twice, winning the opener 10 to 9 with a ninth inning homer after Babe Ruth had clinched his sixteenth four bagger and Lou Gehrig his seventeenth. George Pipgras held the Sox to four hits in the second clash to win his first game of the year 9 to 2 while Chapman inserted another homer in the middle of a six run rally in the third inning.

The Boston Red Sox made it two straight over Cleveland to end their series on even terms, winning 8 to 3. Bob Kline yielded 12 hits but kept them scattered and the Sox collected two more, bunching them for five runs in the fourth.

Maxie Begins Last Of Training Grind; Strib Impresses With Cawley

He rested from boxing, but not from golf. It was stifling hot, yet the German played 18 holes in the morning and whacked the ball for another round of 18 holes late in the afternoon, returning to his cottage in the cool of the evening.

With the fight just a week away the guards at Schmeling's cottage on the shores of Conneaut Lake have been doubled to keep curiosity seekers and well wishers away. A special guard has been placed in front of his cottage and another is stationed 100 feet away to keep the visitors from annoying the German. Despite this extra precaution Schmeling probably will have to do a presidential handshaking act Sunday when German day will be celebrated with lantzen coming from all parts of western Pennsylvania and Cleveland to give him a royal send off. It is expected that more than 5,000, a record crowd, will jam Schmeling's outdoor arena for the day's boxing.

STIRB PASTES CAWLEY

BY EDWARD J. NEIL Associated Press Sports Writer

Gaugaua Lake, O.—(AP)—Fighters must be something like baseball pitchers. One day they feel great and all their stuff is working. Another day they also feel great, but they can't get a man out.

For instance Frank Cawley, a clever young heavyweight sparring partner of Tommy Loughran, wandered into Bill Stribling's training camp for the first time Tuesday night to work with the southern challenger for Max Schmeling's heavyweight title. Bill looked great physically but he could do little with Cawley. Frank was fat and out of condition but he did himself proud.

But last night, with a couple of days training to work on, Cawley tackled the husky Georgian again. He got himself thoroughly pasted with left hooks to the head and body and a few times winging right hand thudded off his head guard. He scarcely laid a hand on Stribling. It was by far the most impressive workout the southerner has turned in in seven training sessions since starting training here for the July 3 battle.

Goes 10 Rounds

In all Stribling went ten rounds, six of them boxing with Cawley, Tan Sam Ward, Frank Kitts and a welterweight named Mickey Dugan, who was in there for a one round speed drill. Stribling hit each man every time he wanted to with any punch he cared to use. He was so fast Dugan could not touch him with a left jab. He cut him surely but it was apparent that he could have swept all four of his mates out of there in short order if he had to double up on his heavy punches. His left hook to the body was in particularly working order.

"Sometimes I don't do well when I think I'm going to," Stribling said after his workout. "But usually I can tell myself what was wrong. Mostly it's something I liked especially well at supper and I ate too much. Sometimes I look all right but I'm not feeling keen."

Stribling will box Saturday and Sunday nights and if his condition continues as fine as it is now he probably will lay the 16 year training gloves aside then and devote himself to nothing but light exercise up to the fight Friday night. He weighed 136 pounds after last night's workout, the notch he wants to hold for the title test.

The last week in June will go down in softball history in Appleton as a jinx to league leaders and undefeated clubs. When the week opened the leader in each league was undefeated, Fox River in the American league, Co. D in the National and Holy Name in the Fraternal.

Tuesday night Coated Paper handed Fox River a trimming and last night Co. D went out and took it on the nose from the August Brandt Co. The score was 2 and 0, the game being a thrilling hurlers' duel with each club getting but three safe hits. However, the Guards erred five times and the Mechanics only three.

The Brandts took an early lead in the frames, but the Guards had a chance to at least even the score in the third frame. The socks were loaded at that time and Johnny Bauer at bat, Johnny hit into a fast double play which retired the side without a run.

Lautenschlager and Hartzheim worked for the Brandts, the former getting one strike out. Klein and Bauer worked for the Guards, Klein whiffing four men. One of the latest crowds of the season saw the game and police had to keep the throng in bounds.

Wednesday night the Printers defeated the Wire Wires in the ninth inning, the score being 4 and 3. There were two men out in the ninth inning, two men on bases and the Printers needing two runs to win when Schade blasted a hit and the two runs tallied.

JUSTO SAUREZ IS BEATEN BY BILL PETROLLE

South American Knocked
Out in Ninth in First
Start of Campaign

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Petrolle, the "Fargo Express," has beaten Justo Saurez of the Argentine right out of the light-weight championship picture. Fargo Billy, who never has learned the meaning of the word "retreat" and is just as ignorant of the gentle art of holding, slugged Saurez all around Madison Square Garden's ring last night and finally knocked him out in the ninth round. A crowd of 9,000 looked on in excitement as Petrolle got the jump on the South American, floored him twice for short counts in the opening round, weakened him badly with terrific smashes to the body during middle stages of the fight, and then finished him with a flurry of blows after a minute and 51 seconds of the ninth round.

Billy Gets Shot at Tony
The net result was to remove Saurez, temporarily at least, from consideration as a light-weight challenger and probably to leave the door open for a "shot" at Tony Canzonieri's 136-pound crown. With the single exception of the second round, it was Fargo Billy's fight all the way. He bobbed and weaved away from almost all of Saurez's wild swings, outsmarted the Argentine South American at close quarters and used a deadly left hook to the body with telling effect. The first round had barely got under way when Petrolle maneuvered Saurez into his own corner and dropped the South American for a count of one with a left hook to the side. Saurez bobbed up only to be hit into another left hook to the same spot that sent him to the canvas for a count of two. Apparently injured, Justo came up, blocked a half dozen wild blows, and traded punches on even terms with the midwesterner for the rest of the round.

Saurez Scores
Saurez came out fresh for the second round and easily had the edge of some wildly exciting fighting, bringing Petrolle up short with some stiff rights and lefts to the head. After that it was all Petrolle. The Fargo slugger waited patiently for openings and then slipped over heavy left hooks to the body that doubled up the South American time and again. It was his inability to furnish a defense for these left hooks that cost Justo the fight. He took terrific punishment through the head, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth rounds and was a tired and discouraged battler as he came out for the ninth round. A right to the jaw sent him spinning to the ropes and, helpless, he took there while Petrolle belted him with both hands. Finally, the Argentine dropped to the floor on his back. He rolled over and at eight o'clock he was on his feet but he still was in bad position when Referee Fatsy Foley reached the count of ten. Saurez weighed 138 pounds; Petrolle 129.

OCCER TEAM PLAYS AT KIMBERLY SUNDAY

Appleton sport club soccer team will play Kimberly at Kimberly being at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. As Appleton is due for a cleanup, according to reports, because of poor teamwork and players shying to retain positions must result Sunday. Kimberly beat the Appleton aggregation a few weeks ago, and 2, and the Appleton manager seeks to strengthen the club so strongest possible aggregation will be placed on the field next fall.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

A MILWAUKEE mathematician figures the new golf ball is 1-16 of an inch larger and 0.0001 grams lighter than the old ball. As the pound contains 7000 grains and the ounce 437.5, the old ball weighed 7083 grains and the new 7126, or actually 43 grains less. which is 4.3 per cent less. He claims to have a perfectly preserved gutta serena ball (used before 1921) exactly 1-16 inches in diameter. That is 1.675, exactly the same size as the new ball. It weighs 323 grains less than last year's ball. The gutta ball is 13 per cent lighter than the 1921-30 ball as compared with the new ball which is 4.3 per cent lighter. That is the ball on which Varon, Brand and other stars of the past built their game.

Army And Navy Soon Will Clash On The Gridiron

BY LAWRENCE PERRY

NEW YORK (CPA)—Plans were in the making to play the Notre Dame-Navy game next fall in this city the Saturday before the Army-Navy game. But they have been dropped as a matter of good will to West Point, where obviously a gridiron contest between the South Bend team and the eleven from Annapolis immediately preceding the traditional Army-Navy game set would make no sort of an appeal. It appears that the Navy wanted this game played in New York at the time in question, if the Army did not greatly mind and Notre Dame deferred decision until she learned the Army attitude. Apparently West Point authorities made their views perfectly clear as to the

NEENAH CLUBBERS ARE BEST HITTERS IN L. F. V. LEAGUE

Kirk and Brueggeman Lead
Appleton Athletics With 333 Mark

A pair of Neenah's fence smashing ball players led the Little Fox river Valley League batters at the end of the first five weeks of play, according to official averages released this week. The averages are late and several changes have since taken place, Harry Gullickson of Neenah losing several points among others and H. Berken of DePere adding several by a 1,000 per cent mark last week in five bats.

Gullickson lead the loop when the marks were issued with 13 hits in 23 bats for .522 with Harry Fahrenkrug, who hits as well as he pitches, second in line with 11 hits in 23 bats for .450.
H. Jansen, led Little Chute with nine hits in 21 bats for .429 and for fifth place, VanStratten, DePere manager, set a good example for his mates with six hits in 13 bats for .462 and third place, Furlinger's five in 16 gave him .313 for Appleton's weak hitters, but Kirk and F. Brueggeman had .333 with three hits in nine tries. Lannoye of Green Bay and DePere hit .444 with four in nine.
The Wolfe brothers of West high grid and cage fame lead Green Bay, Bernie having five in 13 for .417 and Raphael seven in 18 for .389. Clough leads Menasha with four in ten for .400 through Brodzinski had two for four for .500 and Wiatrowski and Caser two in five apiece for .400.

Sports Question Box

Question—If a batter hits a home run out of the ground and falls to touch second base can he be put out?
Answer—Yes if the ball gets to him before he is able to reach his blunder properly. No player is to be given credit for anything in baseball if he profits by it through a mistake of his own.

Question—Does Primo Carnava use larger gloves than the ordinary boxer?
Answer—Yes, he uses eleven and one-half ounce gloves. His hand is so large that an ordinary boxing glove does not fit it. In order to use some padding his gloves are heavier than the regulation size.

Calling the Strikes

New York (CPA)—Baseball men say there will be a wholesale cleaning out of the New York Yankees' pitchers if they don't watch out. Manager Joe McCarthy has found the pitching staff so mired that he may apply some drastic remedies.
If the pitchers of the Yankees could make a front, the batters could make it two fronts. It's tough to have a team that bats better than the champions of a league and then drop far behind them because its pitchers are soft and soggy. The Yanks' with players like Bobb, Ruth and Lou Gehrig, haven't a pitcher who is a whoopea winner.

CASE OF WISCONSIN FIRM IS REOPENED BEFORE COMMISSION

Badger Paper Mills, Inc.,
Forgot to Remember Date of Hearing

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—The distressing case of the Wisconsin company that got its dates mixed and forgot about an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing is again before the I. C. C.
The Badger Paper Mills Inc., which ships pulpwood from northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan to Green Bay, Oconto and Peshtigo, didn't like the freight rates it had to pay. It filed a complaint with the I. C. C. and in due time, a hearing was set.

Either the Badger company was inattentive, or careless, or forgetful. Anyhow, on the morning of May 16, the office force of the company was busily, but peacefully at work, mimeographing reports and evidence to take before the august Commission on May 20, which was certainly the day of the hearing. Suddenly information arrived and consternation broke loose.

This very peaceful May 16 was the hearing day and in fact, the hearing had been scheduled for 9 a. m. Long distance phone calls to witnesses in Peshtigo and here and there went through. Papers and gathered up, hats clutched, and the court house for the hearing went the horrified Badger Paper Mills.

It told the examiner that its witnesses were away and its evidence faulty and asked in mistake as L. Gullickson, Neenah, was the grounds for postponement of the hearing. It stated however that it would put what witnesses it could on the stand if the examiner insisted. Finally adjournment was granted.

Recently the defending railroads filed a brief asking dismissal of the complaint on grounds that the Badger company had failed to prosecute. Now the Badger company has replied to this petition. Courts of law allow postponement and recess when witnesses are not available, it argues. Moreover, it asserts, it did not fail to prosecute since it was willing to do what it could, furnish some proof and witnesses.

Now it is up to the Commission. There's quite a difference between May 16 and May 20—as the Badger Paper Mills has learned.

PROPERTY HOLDERS SHOULD TRIM TREES

Property holders are asked to trim their trees as heavy branches hanging too low in the streets are causing pedestrians and motorists a great deal of discomfort. If trees are not trimmed within the next 30 days the city will cut down the greater obstructions and charge the cost to the property owners.

Are You An Ananias? Tell A "Fish Story"

BY B. A. CLAFLIN
Ananias, a follower of the Apostles, was struck dead for lying. That appears to have been rather severe punishment, providing of course, that he merely told a "little white lie." It has often been said that all fishermen belong to the Ananias club, though it is not on record of any such members having been struck dead.

I was once rowing alone over a bay in Lake Champlain and a huge musky leaped into my boat, but before I could grab him he leaped out again.

"Let me tell you about something that is true," put in another guest. Over at Squirrel Lake they have a trained musky that comes up to the dock when the proprietor of the resort there snaps his fingers in the water. He is then fed a couple of minnows after which he departs into deep water.

"Over east of Green Bay a few miles is a small lake that is quite well known for its large northern pike," I offered when called upon for a story. "A well known doctor who lives in the vicinity had guests for dinner. He thought they might enjoy eating a nice fish and so served forth with his rod. After a few casts he hooked a big pike and landed him. Upon dressing the old cannibal what do you suppose he found in its stomach? Nothing less than a half grown kitten."

The meeting adjourned immediately. It should not, for the tale is true. The northern pike will eat his own brother, and he is very fond of young birds, live mice or what have you.

A British airplane route running the length of Africa from Cairo to Cape Town, 5,750 miles apart, is scheduled to commence operation soon.

"How in the world could you hook him if he had that fish in his mouth?" asked another.

Chapter 20
TRAGIC BURLESQUE

ANN had run into her room to get a dress, while Pierre stood thoughtfully contemplating the dress from which from his measurements of Ann's person had been made an exact duplicate of her living body.

He had been so preoccupied that he had not answered Ann, when, clapping her hands in excitement, she had stood beside the form and cried: "Isn't it exactly like me?" Then she had returned with a slip like the one she had been wearing as he had taken her measurements, and had placed it on the form.

And now he was alone again with the dress form. Timidly, and forgetful of all else he touched the model with loving caresses as if Ann's garment covered not the wires and rods of a mechanical form but Ann's living self.

He was thus engaged when Ann appeared with the dress, which she had gone to fetch, over her arm.

In the door way she stopped short and stood amazed and frightened, but wondrously elated at what she saw.

The very intimacies which had aroused Pierre had awakened her to the realities of her affection for him, and she, too, was overwhelmed by the flood of emotions at this discovery of his love swept over her.

Then Pierre knew that she was there.

As they faced each other, full realization came to them both.

But in that same instant the fine spiritual endowments which Pierre had from his mother, Harriet Noel, the strength of character which had been given him through the beautiful companionship of that mother and son, the true greatness of soul which had been so wisely fostered in him by the old actor, Antonio Lafour—all the essential forces of his nature were aroused.

As instinctively as he had drawn close to the dress form which, by the magic of the moment, was the body of Ann he now moved to protect the love which in the madness of the moment they both had recognized.

With his arm about the waist of the dress form he acted a ridiculous burlesque love scene which reached its climax when, with the dress form in his arms, he whirled about the room in a wild grotesque dance.

Ann, appreciating fully the desperate purpose of his nonsense, took her cure from him and laughed gaily at the ridiculous scene.

For a little she watched, then withdrew to reappear a moment later dressed in her simple house dress.

Pierre ceased his grotesque antics and ostensibly wiped the perspiration from his brow, waiting apprehensively for her to speak.

"You just can't help making a play of everything you do, can you, Pierre? Father Tony is right—you were born to be an actor."

By the matter-of-fact tone in which she spoke, as well as by her words, Pierre knew that she would play her part in the tragedy of their love.

"Why not?" he said. "It's all a play anyway, isn't it? Haven't you ever heard Father Tony recite. 'All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players?'"

"You will soon be acting in earnest, Pierre. How proud we will all be of you!"

"I can just see Father Tony when you are really on the stage and the people who write about plays for the papers are saying wonderful things about you!"

He says that you are the greatest actor of your generation and that some day the people of Orchard Hill will read in their papers about you and that then they will appreciate you. Only today he told me that they'd sing a different tune about you."

In the high pitch of emotional excitement to which he had already been aroused, Ann's words were almost more than he could endure.

Beside himself with anguish, he shouted: "For God's sake let me alone. Don't talk about what I am going to do. I can't stand it, I tell you!"

He dropped into a chair and buried his face in his hands.

Interpreting this as referring to their love she cried out: "Pierre!" and made as if to go to him. But on the verge of sweeping everything aside with an open avowal of love she stopped.

Again she cried, "Pierre!" then slowly she drew back. Quietly, sadly, she said, "I fear it is fortunate, Pierre, that you are going away in the morning."

"But that's just it," he shouted, springing to his feet, "I am not going away in the morning!"

"Do you understand? I am not going away to school at all."

"You are not going to school?" she faltered. "Why, Pierre! If you are not going to school as you have planned what are you going to do?"

"Stay here and be a soda jerk in the Owl Drug Store, I suppose."

Suddenly the significance of Bruce's manner when telling them good-by and the meaning of Pierre's disturbed state of mind were clear to her.

She ran to Pierre and caught him by the arm. In her excitement she shook him as if he were a child.

"Pierre — Pierre Donovan! I believe you gave your school money to Bruce! Tell me, did you? Did you?"

"Yes."

"Oh, Pierre, Pierre, why, why did you do such a thing?"

Pierre, remembering all that Bruce had said about her hopes and disappointment, was too bewildered to speak.

"It was wicked," she said, "wicked! Oh, why did you do it?"

He stared at her stupidly.

"Why did you do it?" she said again. "How could you take the money your mother left to train you for the stage and let Bruce have it for his mining scheme? What about Father Tony and his plans to make you famous on the stage?"

Suddenly he understood how Bruce had tricked him by appealing to his love for Ann. He laughed.

Ann, frightened, cried, "Pierre, Pierre—don't—don't."

With reckless passion, he shouted: "I did it so we can all be rich. You want to be rich, don't you?"

"Don't you want beautiful things—dresses and jewelry and automobiles? Don't you want to live in a fine house with servants and go to the theater and sit in a box and see great plays? Of course you do."

"Bruce wants to be rich; he would commit a murder if it would bring him money enough. Your father wants to be rich."

"I want to be rich, too. To hell with art! I'm going to make money."

"Everybody wants to be rich, except old Father Tony, and everybody says he is a fool!"

"Pierre, stop it!" she cried. "You know you don't mean a word you are saying."

"I shall make Bruce return every penny of your money the moment he gets home tomorrow morning."

Bruce laughed. "Yes, you will! I can see Bruce Carey doing just that!"

With bitter scorn of his own weakness he continued drearily: "All my life I have done what Bruce wanted. The first thing I can remember was my father making me give up to Bruce."

"Everybody knows my father cared a lot more for my stepson than he did for me. My father hated me. Mother knew it. When Bruce and I were boys together I always did what he said. And now he's got my school money!"

Suddenly he left himself go in a wild frenzy: "But, I tell you, I will go to school as I had planned; I'll go in spite of Bruce Carey and all his kind. I'll never go back to that damned soda fountain, so help me God!"

"I'll get the money I need if I have to steal it; I'll get it if I have to kill somebody!"

Ann was frightened; she had never realized that Pierre was capable of such passion. He had always been so calm and well poised.

"Pierre," she said gently, timidly, "please, dear, don't—don't lose control of yourself like this—you—"

But Pierre rushed from the room. Ann called wildly: "Pierre! Pierre! Everything will be all right, Pierre!"

Ann's worry over Pierre continues. There are tears in her eyes before tomorrow's installment ends.

BUTH BULK STATION, WAREHOUSE ONE OF LARGEST IN CITY

Formal Opening of New Structures to Be Held
Here Saturday

Formal opening of the new bulk station, warehouse and offices of the Buth Oil Co. on W. Washington-st., south of Wilson Junior high school will take place Saturday, according to George Buth, head of the new firm. The huge plant, one of the largest of its kind in the state, will be open for public inspection Saturday and Sunday.

Eight gasoline tanks each with a capacity of 15,000 gallons have been buried in the ground east of the warehouse and office building. A pump house 10 feet wide and 16 feet long has been erected adjacent to the warehouse. The house is equipped with the latest type Viking pumps, which control the flow of the tanks.

The warehouse is 60 feet long and 40 feet wide and is capable of storing 1,200 barrels of oil without double decking. The structure is one story high and is constructed of concrete blocks.

The office building, also a one story structure, is 20 feet wide and 45 feet long. It is constructed of face brick and concrete blocks. The office building and warehouse is equipped with a huge steam heating plant.

When completed the warehouse site will be landscaped. Lawns and shrubs will be planted to beautify the grounds. Mr. Buth says. The work probably will get underway as soon as the construction debris is removed and the site is graded.

Build New Road

A circular road also is to be built around the entire plant for the convenience of truck drivers, who will distribute the Barnsdall B Square products of the plant.

The warehouse has a full basement which will house the heating plant, and equipment of the firm.

The structures were erected by the George Ashman Co. The plumbing was installed by George Wiess and Co., and the heating system by the Reinhard Wenzel Co.

Electric wiring and fixtures were installed by the Arft Electric Co., and the cement blocks were furnished by the Guenther Cement Products Co. Lumber and other materials were furnished by the Hettinger Co. The brick for the office building was secured at Waupaca.

BUTH IS VETERAN IN FIELD OF OIL, GAS DISTRIBUTION

Head of New Oil Company
Has Had 21 Years of Experience

A veteran in the field of oil and gasoline distribution, George Buth, 1029 W. Harris-st., head of the newly organized Buth Oil Co., Saturday will formally open his new lubrication at the intersection of N. Oneida and Franklin-sts., and a new bulk station on W. Washington-st., south of the Wilson Junior high school.

Mr. Buth's experience in the distribution of petroleum products dates back to 1910, when he entered the employ of an independent firm at Wausau.

In 1912 he left Wausau to take over the management of the Ripon branch of the Wadham Oil Co. He remained at Ripon for four and one half years until 1917, when he went into the United States service, being stationed at Camp Grant.

Following his discharge from the army after the armistice, Mr. Buth went to Beaver Dam to take charge of the Wadham Oil Co. plant in that city. He remained in Beaver Dam until 1921, when he came to Appleton to become commission branch manager of the Wadham Co.

Organize New Firm

He served in that capacity until April of this year when he organized the present Buth Oil Co. to distribute Barnsdall B Square products.

Mr. Buth has employed Appleton men with many years experience to help him distribute these products. Raymond Schultz, who has been employed as city bulk salesman has had 11 years experience.

Harold Schultz is rural truck salesman, and Rudolph Modern, pump installer and supervisor of dealers' service. Frank Hanaway will be rural truck salesman and Harold Helbing, bulk department head.

Raymond Johnson has been appointed service station attendant, and Fred Schultz, foreman. Donald Van Rocy and Mr. Schultz will operate the greasing stalls.

The entire staff will take part in the formal opening of the lubrication and bulk station Saturday, and will remain on duty on Sunday.

IDENTIFY BODY FOUND AFLOAT IN GREEN BAY

Green Bay—(P)—The body of a man found floating in Green Bay near Panama beach, six miles north-east of here, was identified Thursday as that of Ben Dombeck, 40, De Pere, a blacksmith, who had been missing from his home since last Friday.

The body was unrecognizable, but the identification was made through a cheap watch in his pocket and a paper of matches. The watch had a rubber band around the stem placed there, Mrs. Dombeck told Coroner Frank J. Hodek, by the dead man's children while playing with the timepiece.

Dombeck had been out of work and, according to his family, was despondent. Funeral service were held this morning with burial in a De Pere cemetery.

Buth Oil Company Opens Gas Station, Warehouse This Weekend

NEW LUBRITORIUM OF BUTH OIL CO. OPENS SATURDAY

Gasoline Station Situated at Popular Intersection of City

Situated at one of the most popular down town street intersections, the new Buth Oil Co. Lubritorium and filling station at the corner of Franklin and N. Oneida-sts will be formally opened Saturday by George Buth, head of the newly organized Buth Oil Co.

The structure is distinctly Spanish in design, the exterior walls being faced with white stucco and trimmed with black Spanish tile. The stucco covers the pressed brick wall. Conforming with the Spanish style architecture of the walls and other parts of the building is a red clay tile roof.

The building was designed and planned by Levee and Gmeiner, architects, under the direction of Mr. Buth.

The interior of the structure is lined with straw colored glazed tile and modernistic gasoline station fixtures. The floors are of terrazzo throughout.

Three separate stalls for lubricating three automobiles at one time have been erected on the east wing of the station, and constitute the Lubritorium proper. An electric hoist and electric greasing equipment of the latest design has been installed, including Alemite and Graco guns.

Plan Expansion

In the near future, Mr. Buth expects to install additional equipment for car washing, and other features characteristic of a super-service station. Equipment for such work will be installed as soon as the station has been in operation for a while, he says.

Five gasoline pumps for the distribution of Barnsdall B Square products have been erected on the spacious drive in front of the station. The structure is accessible from Oneida-st and Franklin-st over concrete driveways. Two air towers for refilling tires have been installed, one on each driveway.

Four ornamental lamp posts will illuminate the large area at night. Water connections for "filling cars."

NAVAL PLANES TO TAKE PART IN AIR EXHIBITS

Washington —(P)—Naval planes will participate in the National Air races at Cleveland this year but none will be entered in any of the speed competitions. This is the promise of Assistant Navy Secretary Ingalls.

"The navy," Ingalls said, "has no planes built for speed alone. Our fighting planes, which are the fastest we have at present, have been designed for high speed performance, but in addition they have been constructed with inherent qualities of extreme ruggedness to withstand military armament equipment, and rigid gear for carrier deck landing. These last named factors highly important from a military standpoint, are not conducive to speed records which may be made by planes designed essentially for making fast records in the air."

Ingalls said 12 fighting planes from the U. S. S. Langley, 12 flying boats and 12 marine corps planes from Quantico, Va., will be present during the meet. The new navy dirigible, Akron, he said, may be flown to Cleveland.

STEEL BATTLE ENDED

New York —(P)—The New York Evening Post said Thursday that it had learned an agreement ending the litigation over the billion-dollar Bethlehem Steel-Youngstown Sheet and Tube merger had been tentatively reached. The settlement, the newspaper said, was expected to open the way for a new consolidation involving other large midwestern steel properties.

Oil stands and other accessories also have been provided for.

The Hegner Construction Co. erected the building, the firm holding the general construction contract. The steam heating system was installed by the John Engel Heating Co.

Building materials were furnished by the Hettinger Lumber Co., and mill supplies by the Standard Manufacturing Co. The plumbing was installed by the Reinhold Wenzel Co., and the electric wiring and lamp fixtures were installed by the Langstadt Electric Co.

Work on a similar station will get underway on E. Wisconsin-ave if an injunction brought against the city by property owners on the street is adjusted. Plans of the Buth Oil Co. provided for station at the intersection of Wisconsin-ave and N. Union-st.

CENTRAL STANDARD TIME NOW IS LEGAL TIME IN WISCONSIN

Hampel Bill Prohibiting Daylight Saving Signed by Governor

Madison —(P)—Central Standard Time became the legal time for Wisconsin Thursday as a result of Gov. Philip LaFollette's approval of a bill introduced by Assemblyman George Hampel, Milwaukee.

The new law prohibits the use of daylight saving time or any other form of time except standard time in all business establishments or in government offices.

Assemblyman Hampel introduced the measure as a result of confusion which existed in Milwaukee last year when some businesses were operated under daylight time and others by standard.

Gov. LaFollette vetoed five bills and signed 14 measures Wednesday. Thirteen of the measures approved were assembly bills and one originated in the senate.

A bill listing the purposes for which fire insurance companies may write insurance was vetoed. The governor held that the bills would permit insurance forms to refuse risks on those not listed.

Declaring "no sound reason for asking the public treasury to underwrite existing deficits," the governor vetoed a bill which would have allowed county boards to aid fails to retire deficits. A senate bill to permit abandonment of plats in towns without hearings was vetoed as was a minor bill assignment of tax certificates.

The governor signed a bill by Assemblyman Ingolf Rasmus, Chippewa Falls, which prohibits the use of trammel, gill, hoop, or any other kinds of nets or fish traps except minnow nets in Adams, Barron, Chippewa, Columbia, Dunn, Florence, Green Lake, Iron, Juneau, Lincoln, Marathon, Marquette, Rusk, Sauk, Sawyer, Taylor, Vilmar, Waushara, and Wood counties.

Other bills approved were: By Assemblyman Charles Budlong, Marinette, declaring the area of Green bay to include all that between Death's Door and the mouth of the Fox river for the purpose of administering closed seasons on certain varieties of fish.

By Lewis Powell, Kenosha — instructing motor vehicle drivers who injure persons to report their name and address to the county sheriff, or any police officer.

By Assemblyman Don Smith, Jefferson—permitting the city council, on approval of the highway commission, to construct or reconstruct bridges in cities of less than 15,000. By Assemblyman Henry Ellenbecker, Wausau—opening the season on muskrats during the entire year in Fish and Silver lakes, town of Marlon, Waushara county, and Lake Meyflower and Lake Norrie in the town of Norrie and on Pine lake in the towns of Reid and Elderon in Marathon county.

By Assemblyman Ben Rubin, Milwaukee—permitting counties to furnish rooms in public buildings to any civic, patriotic and historical society.

By committee—permitting villages to improve streets which are part of the state trunk highway system and to issue special assessment certificates or improvement bonds.

By Assemblyman John Grob-schmidt, Milwaukee—reducing from $5 to $3 the renewal fee for licenses to practice chiropractic.

By committee—prohibiting hunting or trapping wild animals and birds in Milwaukee county except that the owner of land may hunt or trap those animals on his land which are not otherwise restricted by law.

Interpreting Beauty in practical form

Upon the builder falls the job of interpreting the plans and ideas of the architect and owner. In a practical manner, he must interpret the beauty of modern planning. With the least amount of delay he must set to work to turn ideas into realities of stone, steel and brick.

The new Buth Service Station is an excellent example of modern quality building as it is done by Hegner. Here, a deft handling of a specific type of architecture was accomplished. The architecture of Old Spain must be adapted to the needs of modern Wisconsin.

This, we feel, has been carefully done. The new Buth Service Station will continue to look well for years to come. Into it, the strength, utility, beauty and quality we have built, will continue to serve and to please.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU "CANCER."

If June 27th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:10 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. from 3:35 p. m. to 5:45 p. m. and 8 p. m. to 10:10 p. m. The danger hours are from 7:45 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. and from 5:55 p. m. to 7:45 p. m.

The planetary aspects of June 27th denote a dull uninteresting morning and an afternoon and evening replete with beneficent and stimulating influences. Nothing involving change should be attempted in the forenoon. Thereafter, the signs favor all social activities and recreations, and incidentally, are kind to Cupid's devotees.

Children born on this June 27th will not, in youth, display any marked ability, and will only study when compelled to do so. After reaching the age of adolescence, this will all change, and they will possess an insatiable appetite for erudition, and will spare no pains to gratify it. Their dispositions will be dominating, and tinged with selfishness and sympathetic affection.

Born on June 27th, you are very careful in all that you do, and cautious in everything that you attempt. You not only look before you leap but you carefully measure the height or breadth of the jump. After doing this, however, you are never dismayed, but find your joints and take it over the run. Sometimes your hands are not so good one. But undeterred, you return to starting-point, and try all over again. Your methods are classified as slow but your percentage of "get there's" is a high one.

You are thrifty, without being stingy, and you always insist on value received. You love modern comfort, but are not willing to purchase it on the installment plan. You always live within your means, and are a "C. O. D." subject. Your horoscope denotes that, although not capable of carrying out an operation that requires daring and imagination, you will attain an eminently desirable degree of success.

Your head, much more so than your heart, will influence your attachments; no strong passion will agitate you, but a placid and happy companionship will be the ambition that you realize. You will be willing to forego brief thrills for a continuous performance of connubial felicity.

Successful People Born June 27th: 1—Sir William Pepperell—first native American to be knighted. 2—Leonard Case—philanthropist. 3—James S. Metcalf—author. 4—Paul Laurence Dunbar—poet and author. 5—Helen Adams Keller—blind lecturer and author. (Copyright, 1931 The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

The above deal presents two features: one, of bidding by North in assistance of partner's original Spade bid; the other, of play by South, the Declarer, who must make four odd in order to go game.

As to the bidding, it consists in North giving his full measure of support and not simply a double raise in hopes that the original bidder may gamble on the game bid. This, of course, applies only to Contract.

At both Contract and Auction, however, the Declarer must resort to an elimination play in order to make four odd.

Salient Points of Bidding

Contract: South opens the bidding with One Spade. West overcalls with Two Hearts and Declarer takes the trick with the Ace of Clubs, concluding the bid.

bidding. South opens the bidding with One Spade. West overcalls with Two Hearts and Declarer takes the trick with the Ace of Clubs, concluding the bid. West's hand is not strong enough to rebid the Hearts. He makes a fair defense and a partner should happen to have enough to keep a rebid of the Hearts from being disastrous, game may well be saved.

The Play
West opens the King of Hearts and Declarer takes the trick with the Ace. Declarer takes three rounds of trumps to exhaust East, after which another Heart is led. Neither East nor West having any advantageous shift, a third round of Hearts is led which Declarer trumps.

Declarer now takes the Ace and King of Diamonds in Dummy and leads a small Diamond, the trick being taken by West.

East and West now have two tricks and must make the Ace of Clubs, but this is the only trick they will take, for should West lead either a Heart or a Diamond, Dummy will trump and Declarer will discard a Club.

This is apparent to West so he underleads the Ace of Clubs in hopes that East may have the Queen. However, when North plays the Three of Jacks is the best that East can do. Declarer takes the trick with the Queen and leads his Nine of Clubs. Should West play the Ace, Dummy will still make the King. Should West play the Ten, Dummy will play the King immediately. Even should East happen to have the Ace and to have finessed the first time, Declarer's Eight would have become good.

Mr. Whitehead will answer one question at a time concerning your bridge problems. Write to him in care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope. Copyright 1931 by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

REDISTRICTING BILL PASSED BY ASSEMBLY

Madison —(AP)—With only slight modifications, the Tremain bill for congressional reapportionment was passed by the assembly Thursday and sent to the senate.

The measure was introduced by Assemblyman Ben Tremain, Hustler, for the joint committee on congressional reapportionment. One of the 11 districts are abolished to conform with the 1930 census.

MARQUETTE U TO HAVE NEW SCHOOL

$500,000 to Be Spent on New Medio Building in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—Marquette university's dream of a unified campus will be brought nearer to completion as construction work is started in August on a new $500,000 building for the Marquette school of medicine adjoining the dental school.

The building will be similar in design to the other newer Marquette structures, and will be of collegiate Gothic architecture of reinforced concrete, walled with orange buff brick. It will include a semi-basement or ground floor, and four other stories.

Facing on N. Fifteenth street in the heart of the university district, the building will have a frontage of 260 feet and including its double wings will run back 125 feet. It will be joined directly to the present dental building, erected in 1922.

An auditorium with a capacity of 500 will be located on the first floor of the north wing, and the wings also will include seven laboratories for the various departments, and two large lecture halls. There also will be two classrooms.

The main section will feature a library, pathology museum, anatomy museum, X-ray department, art room, eye clinic, students' health service, offices, lecture rooms and a canteen. There will be a penthouse running the length of the roof of the main section.

Plans and drawings for the building are being completed so that contracts may be let late in July. It is
